WEATHER

Five to six inches of spring snow today. April Fool! Really though, more warm weather is here for the weekend as temperatures will again climb into the upper 70s today. The possibility of rain is still present and there is a chance of thunder showers tonight. Low today will be 45 to 50. Probability of precipitation is 50 per cent today and 40 per cent tomorrow. Skies will be cloudy tomorrow and mild temperatures are predicted. Winds are southerly at 15 to 22 mph. Yesterday's results: no precipitation; river, 8.9 feet and rising; high temperature, 76; low 40. Sunrise is at 6:04 a.m. and sunset 6:46 p.m. Tomorrow's sunrise is at 6:02 a.m. and sunset, 6:47 p.m.

WARREN COUNTY

A questionnaire is being circulated to determine the need for apartments for medium-income elderly citizens of Warren County. Warren Housing, Inc., which is doing the study, is a non-profit organization formed to build apartments for the elderly. Page One.

A member of Bradford Aviation Commission yesterday spoke to a group of Warren County residents interested in a proposed regional airport. He outlined the "whys" for the proposed airport at Mt. Alton. Page One.

Warren County Probation Office has submitted its annual report for 1966. There were 18 juvenile court hearings last year, involving 29 boys and one girl. Six of the boys brought before the court were sent to institutions. Page B1.

PENNSYLVANIA

Pennsylvania's 28-year-old obscenity law would be somewhat liberalized by a proposed crime code now under consideration by a joint legislative committee. Page A3.

The state's minor-judiciary system faces changes by revision of the Pennsylvania constitution. Voters would have a say about any such changes during the primary election next year. Page A3.

A three-part series on the state's minor judiciary concludes today with the note that the proposed constitutional amendment is another in the many attempts to change the judiciary. Page A2.

THE NATION

Twenty-three survivors of the plane wreck which killed nine high school students from Juda, Wis., returned home yesterday. The long trip from New Orleans, as well as the reception, was grim and quiet. Page One.

Latest in the string of possible strikes is against the nation's trucking industry by Teamsters. But, the industry may just close down if Teamsters choose to only strike some of the employers. Page One.

Meanwhile, a U.S. District Court judge barred railroad conductors and brakemen from striking the nation's lines. The strike was to have begun this morning. Page One.

And, newsmen Chet Huntley is leading a rebellion against striking AFTRA members. Although only two men have signed up, he claims 40 fellow NBC newsmen are behind him. Page A3.

Sen. Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania, an avowed critic of Johnson's Vietnam policy, last night said the U.S. should follow U. Thant's suggestion to a cease-fire by April 15. Page One.

THE WORLD

Vice President Humphrey ran into opposition to the U.S.-backed nuclear treaty from Italian officials yesterday. He missed the first large-scale demonstration against the U.S. when heavy traffic forced him to leave the government building by a back door. Page A3.

U.S. attempts to overrun a suspect Viet Cong headquarters were forestalled yesterday by heavy enemy fire. Page A2.

SPORTS

George Archer equaled a course record with rounds of 32-32 to take a two-stroke lead over Johnny Pott in the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament. The 6-foot-6 pro fired six birdies, four in succession, and eagled the last hole to take command at the halfway point. Page A6.

Today's 12-hour endurance sports car race shapes up as a duel between Ford and Chaparral, but Ferrari could take over if the American built cars falter as they did in the 24-hour Daytona Beach Continental. Page A7.

In major league baseball exhibitions, Sam McDowell and Mel Stottlemyre both hurled seven innings of shutout ball to pace the Indians and the Yankees to victories over the Chicago Cubs and Boston Red Sox respectively. The Pittsburgh Pirates went down to defeat, 8-4, when Baltimore scored seven runs with two out in the seventh inning. Page A6.

BRADFORD COMMISSION MEMBER VISITS HERE

Members of the Bradford Aviation Commission were in Warren yesterday to sell the regional airport and authority concept to a representative group from Warren County. ### Trucking Industry May Buck Teamster Threats

By DAVID R. JONES

WASHINGTON — Trucking industry negotiators threatened yesterday to halt two-thirds of the nation's trucking operations if the Teamsters union tried to "whipsaw" them with a selective strike.

M. M. Gordon, president of Trucking Employers, Inc., announced the strategy at a news conference at which he said the chances for avoiding a walkout were "pretty slim" unless the union sharply reduced its contract demands.

The official said the companies had offered the union a package of wages and benefits valued at 49 cents an hour over three years, or an increase of about 4 per cent annually. He said the union is seeking about 95 cents an hour, or about 6 per cent annually, and that its demands on working conditions "would destroy our ability to serve the general public."

The contract between the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and major trucking companies expired at midnight last night. But the 450,000-member union locals will not take a strike vote until today and tomorrow, making a general walkout unlikely before Monday.

The Teamsters union has indicated that it would strike the trucking industry on a selective basis, rather than nationwide, to limit the economic impact and make it harder for Congress to justify new anti-strike legislation.

Such a move also would represent an effort to "whipsaw" the companies, playing the non-strike lines against the struck lines in a bid to get a bigger settlement.

Gordon said yesterday, however, that Trucking Employers would call upon its 1,500 member companies for an "immediate and complete cessation" of operations if the union tried the "whipsaw" tactic.

Gordon said he understood the

U.S. District Court Bars Rail Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — Railroad conductors and brakemen were barred yesterday from proceeding with a nationwide railroad strike scheduled to begin this morning.

Judge Richard E. Austin of U.S. District Court issued a temporary restraining order against the Order of Railroad Conductors and Brakemen. A suit for the order was filed earlier in the day on behalf of 66 railroads.

The temporary order remains effective until April 10. Judge Austin set a hearing on a permanent injunction against the strike for April 7.

The union had called a walkout for 12:01 a.m. today. Union officials did not attend the hearing and offered no opposition to the railroads' action.

"The threat of a strike definitely constitutes an emergency at this time," James R. Wolfe, a management attorney, said in requesting the order. Wolfe is general attorney for the National Railway Labor Conference.

Wolfe told Judge Austin that the dispute between the railroads and the union "involves interpretation of an agreement which is subject to consideration by the National Railroad Adjustment Board." He did not elaborate on the dispute.

Judge Austin did not comment on the temporary restraining order.

The order said, "The threatened strike would seriously impede and substantially interrupt the transportation of passengers, mail, freight and express lading — including the transportation of military personnel and defense materials — essential to the military effort in Vietnam."

It restrains the union from striking, picketing or interfering with railroad operations.

Wolfe noted that the dispute involves 66 railroads which have 73 per cent of the operating revenues of all railroads in this country and carry 348,000 passengers per day.

Clyde F. Lane, union president, said in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, yesterday that the organization "will, of course, comply with the law and the order of Judge Austin."

Local Representatives Hear Bradford Group On 'Whys' of Airport

A group of men representative of varied interests in Warren County yesterday heard a member of the Bradford Aviation Commission outline the "whys" for the proposed regional airport at Mt. Alton.

Four counties: Warren, McKean, Elk and Cameron, have already committed themselves to shares in an expansion and modernization program at the present Bradford Airport expected to cost $804,910. This figure is based on Federal Aviation Agency's preliminary estimates.

Warren County's share is $51,000 to be paid over a five-year period. The county will have two members on an planned regional authority which will take over the assets of the Bradford port.

At the Penn Laurel yesterday, F. Wayne Fesemmyer of the Bradford Airport Commission and member of the Pennsylvania Aeronautical Commission, advised the local group of the continued growth of the airport and its possible future.

Since Bradford and McKean County took over the port there has been $12,309,936.31 expended on it for development alone. This figure, Fesemmyer said, does not include the Army Air Corp's previous expense of clearing the land, grading and paying the original runways, which have since been expanded. The Corps turned over the field after the war for a sum of about $27,000.

The Army costs, Fesemmyer said, could reasonably be assumed to run between two and three million dollars, giving a total investment in the airport of approximately $5 million. According to a financial statement, the Bradford Aviation Commission's profit last year was $15,880.14.

The spokesman stated that FAA, at its own expense, has built an "Omni-station," part of a national navigation system, a direction finder to find and orient lost planes, a low frequency localizer and also operate a flight service station at the airport on a 24 hour basis with a staff of 12 persons.

Fesemmyer emphasized the fact that Bradford and McKean could continue to operate the airport by themselves on the same basis as it is being operated now. He added, however, it would remain a limited service airport, would slip continuously as aviation progressed and within a very short time would fail to meet the needs of the counties using its facilities now.

Efforts have been made to add Mohawk flights at the Bradford facility and it is hoped the improvements planned may bring about this increase in service.

The current expansion plan is to lengthen the main runway from 5,000 to 6,500 feet, widen from 100 to 150 feet, resurfacing and increasing lighting and drainage improvements. The longer runway would facilitate handling of turbine-powered aircraft which Allegheny has added to its fleet.

Fesemmyer told those present it is conceivable, in not too many years, that DC 9's may be brought into Bradford. Other FAA long range projections indicate lighting, added taxiways, fire rescue and the possibility of an instrumental landing system which may not require a control tower. Such a system is in experiment at Bradford and also at the James-town airport.

According to the BAC representative, the starting date for the proposed regional airport should be the spring of 1968 and completion by fall of that year. He did indicate some de-

Warren Housing Asks Questions

Warren Housing, Inc., organized to construct and operate apartments for medium income elderly citizens of Warren County, is circulating a questionnaire to determine in advance of final plans the approximate number of apartments which will be required.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development, through which the construction funds will be borrowed on a 50-year mortgage, has authorized construction of 25 units. Warren Housing, Inc., has received indications that as many as 60 apartments may be demanded.

"We want to construct the apartment complex as economically as possible," John O. Hanna Jr., president, commented, "and if we can build as many as will be easily rented the cost per unit will be smaller."

"The exact location of the apartment complex has not been determined. It will be built on a centrally located site within easy walking distance of all necessities of life."

"We cannot provide in advance the rental rates as the rents will be determined by the amortized construction costs and the costs of operations including all utilities. We have in the questionnaire, however, a section for interested citizens to tell us how much rent they can pay."

"There is no commitment by filling out the questionnaire. We just need to know how much interest there is in medium priced apartment housing so we can decide how many units to build."

The questionnaires may be completed by families in which at least one member is 62 years of age or older, residents of Warren County, and if the family is interested in new or better housing. Those who return the questionnaires will disclose the type of housing they now inhabit, the type of apartment they would prefer, the amount of rent they can pay and a general estimate of total family income.

The questionnaires are available at the Courthouse, Warren municipal building, Warren Post Office, Central Labor Council, Northwest Savings and Loan, and churches can pick up supplies from Capt. Albert Carter at the Salvation Army. Those unable to personally pick up a form at any of the designated places may call or write to the Warren County Commissioners' office and a form will be returned immediately.

Warren Housing, Inc., desires to compile the information by April 12.

Clark Wants U. S. To Halt Viet Action

By HEDRICK SMITH

WASHINGTON — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., called last night for the United States to put into effect United Nations Secretary General Thant's proposal for a "standstill truce" in Vietnam, by halting all offensive action, including the bombing of North Vietnam, on April 15.

"The time has come," he declared, "to cut through the technicalities. A general standstill truce can be accomplished without preliminary negotiations. The best way to get it is for the U.S. to make the first move."

Once the allied forces have established that they will "fire only if fired upon," Clark asserted, they should seek the help of Thant and other intermediaries to persuade both North Vietnam and the Viet Cong "to follow suit."

"If they respond, we are on our way to peace," Clark said. "If not, the U.S. should 'in any event' halt the bombing, cease its offensive search-and-destroy ground operations and 'shore ourselves up in easily defensible positions,' striking out only to protect the perimeter."

Clark, long a critic of the Johnson administration's Vietnam policy, made his proposal in a keynote speech here to the national convention of Americans for Democratic Action.

With other members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, he met privately last week with Thant at the United Nations before Thant's new peace formula was made public. In his speech, Clark praised the secretary general's proposal as a "useful initiative" that opened the way for American action.

Thant proposed a three-step peace plan that provided for a "general standstill truce" and preliminary talks between Washington and Hanoi that would lead to a final stage—reconvening the 1954 Geneva Conference on Vietnam, with both the South Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong as participants.

The U.S. accepted the plan with the qualification that "details" of the military truce be

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Addie Pelton

Residents of Sugar Grove received word that Mrs. Addie Pelton, 91, a former resident of that community, died Monday, March 27, in Asheville, N.C. She is survived by a son and two grandchildren.

George G. Brader

George G. Brader, 42, of 126 1/2 Beaty st., a lifelong resident of this area, died at 10:40 p.m. March 31, 1967.

He was born on Sept. 7, 1924, in Warren, the son of the late Harry and Mae Noaker Brader. A veteran of World War II, he served with the U.S. Navy and was a member of Dinsmoor Schwimg Post No. 631 V.F.W.

He was also a member of Chief Conplanter Post No. 135, American Legion. Until recently he was employed as a taxi driver for Warren Taxi Company.

Surviving are a son Michael of Warren; two brothers, William E. Brader of Warren and Harry L. Bancroft of Warren; a sister, Mrs. Mabel Freeland of Stroudsburg; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later from Peterson-Blick Funeral Home.

Minor Judiciary Reforms Sought for Years

(Editors Note: If the voters approve a constitutional convention it would, among other things, be empowered to suggest changes in the law dealing with Pennsylvania's minor judiciary. This raises the question of what changes, if any, are needed. This last of three articles on the minor judiciary takes a look at the various reforms suggested.)

By PAUL ZDINAK

HARRISBURG (AP) — For years, reforms have been suggested for the minor judiciary, ranging from elimination of the fee system to outright abolition of justices of the peace, aldermen, and magistrates.

Attempts in the Legislature to bring about major changes to the JP system have met with failure.

Now the minor judiciary system faces change via another approach — constitutional convention.

If the voters in the May 16 primary election approve the constitutional convention proposal, the convention would be empowered this winter to draft changes in the minor judiciary system.

Any such changes would have to be ratified by the voters in next year's primary election.

Several legislators, state policemen and even a few JPs advocate elimination of the fee system and a reduction in the ranks of the minor judiciary. There are some 5,000 JPs across the state.

At the other end of the spectrum, the Pennsylvania Bar Association recommends outright abolition of the minor judiciary and its replacement with community courts to be presided over by lawyers.

The Republican and Democratic State Committees have contrasting planks in their platforms on the minor judiciary system.

The Democratic Committee calls for establishment of an adequate, modern judicial system and reform of the judiciary system.

The Republican Committee is more specific, calling for abolition of the magistrate system in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia's 28 magistrates differ from their brethren across the state in that the magistrate is paid a salary while the JP and alderman is reimbursed by a fee system.

Gov. Shafer has indicated that, along with abolition of the magistrates, there should be elimination of the fee system and a reduction in the number of JPs and alderman. Last year while lieutenant governor, Shafer arranged for a bill to be introduced in the Senate to abolish the Philadelphia magistrates.

But House Democrats quickly countered that any reform should be statewide and not just in Philadelphia. The bill died in House committee.

In an obvious salute to the power of the minor judiciary, Lt. Gov. Raymond J. Broderick sent letters on Jan. 25 to JPs across the state, soliciting support for the constitutional convention bill which, at that time, was in the Senate.

"Among the many problems calling for reform, the most familiar to you is the judiciary," Broderick said in his "Dear Squire" letter.

"I do not need to dwell on the abuses of the Philadelphia magistrate system. This is a problem requiring immediate action," the letter added.

"Gov. Shafer has made clear that the Philadelphia magistrate system should be abolished. He has not and does not recommend the abolition of the J. P. system, but I am sure you agree that there is room for improvement."

State Rep. Joseph P. Righy, R-Allegheny, one of the better known aldermen in Pittsburgh, says he is prepared to introduce a bill that would bring change in the minor judiciary system in Allegheny County.

He would have the number of JPs in his county reduced and would eliminate the fee system. The county would pay the JP a salary.

"There are many changes to be made," Righy said. "The fee system is the worst part. Eliminate this and you would cure most of the ills in the system."

The Pennsylvania Motor Federation AA also advocates elimination of the fee system and says the minor judicial districts should be reapportioned on a population basis. The AAA also thinks JPs should be learned in the law although they should not necessarily be lawyers.

Also subject to judicial reform, if a convention meets, are Pennsylvania's constables who, for the most part, carry out directives of the JPs.

Both JPs and constables are elected on a six-year basis. Constables also are paid by the fee system, although their fees are considerably smaller.

Recently in the Harrisburg area there has been an effort among some of the constables to organize on a statewide basis. An advertisement calling for the initial meeting read: "Attention Constables! Are we to be eliminated without a fight? No!"

Six times in the past the voters have been asked to approve a referendum calling for a constitutional convention. Six times the proposal has been defeated.

The last time was in 1963 and the minor judiciary was credited with having been a big factor in the defeat of the proposal.

Now the JP is girding for another battle for survival.

FUNERAL NOTICES

DEATHS IN THE NATION

Soviet Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky

(c) N.Y. Times News Service MOSCOW — Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, the Soviet minister of defense, died here yesterday after an illness that had kept him from his duties for several months.

The marshal, who was 68 years old, had been reported on the verge of death for weeks.

A medical announcement distributed by Tass, the Soviet press agency, said that Malinovsky had died of cancer of the pancreas. The solemn-faced stocky marshal will be buried behind the Lenin mausoleum in the Kremlin wall, Tass reported.

Marshal Malinovsky had been a soldier for 53 years, serving Czar Nicholas II as a 16-year-old private and then Lenin and Stalin after the Bolshevik revolution. The marshal was raised the post of defense minister in 1957 by former premier Nikita Khrushchev after the abrupt ouster of Marshal Georgi K. Zhuk-

Youth Becomes First 1967 Victim

PANAMA, N.Y. — Edward Raymond Bowman, four and one-half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bowman of Goshen rd., southwest of the village of Panama in the town of Harmony yesterday afternoon became Chautauqua County's first drowning victim of 1967.

The boy's father told authorities his son had been missing for about one hour when he began searching for him. A broken area in a thin coat of ice on a nearby farm pond was noticed by Bowman, who entered the pond, falling through the ice as he went. A few moments later the body of his son emerged from underneath the ice. Panama volunteer firemen applied artificial respiration but their efforts were futile. Chautauqua County Coroner Ralph Wallace issued a statement of accidental death due to drowning.

Heavy Enemy Fire Blocks U.S. Troops from Bunker

By JOHN LENGEL

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy enemy fire blocked U.S. troops yesterday from a War Zone C bunker complex believed to be a major Communist headquarters. Stalled through a four-hour battle, infantrymen called on air strikes and artillery to clear the way for them today.

The battle site was 65 miles north of Saigon in the jungles of Tay Ninh Province, where Americans for five weeks have been seeking both military and political command posts of the Viet Cong in the most massive offensive of the war — Operation Junction City.

A dig-in regiment of Viet Cong regulars — perhaps 2,500 men — aimed rockets, mortar shells and machine-gun bullets against some 1,400 Americans, members of two battalions of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, advancing from a helicopter landing field five miles from the Cambodian frontier.

While U.S. jet planes and field guns opened up in support of the infantrymen, enemy fire shot down one of several helicopters darting in and out to remove American casualties. It was hit over the treeline rimming the half-mile-long field.

Associated Press photographer Horst Faas, who was on the scene, said one man struggled back from the wreck with a leg wound. The fate of the others aboard was undetermined.

Running short on both rifle grenades and machine-gun ammunition, the GIs pulled back at dusk and set up defensive perimeters near the landing zone. The Viet Cong harassed them with sniper fire and mortar shelling in the night.

A field report said seven Americans had been killed and 42 wounded in the battle. Five were injured by U.S. bomb fragments in the close quarters action.

The Viet Cong were reported to have lost 28 known dead and it was estimated American shells and bombs, landing outside the sight of ground observers, accounted for 50 or 60 others.

In the air war, the U.S. Command announced destruction of the Thai Nguyen steel plant's blast furnaces.

At sea, U.S. 7th Fleet vessels hammering at coastal targets of North Vietnam got Australian help as the guided missile destroyer Hobart began gunfire support missions. South Vietnam, Thailand and South Korea also have small naval forces in Vietnamese waters.

Jamestown Council Agenda Finds 13 Prefiled Measures

JAMESTOWN — City Council next Tuesday night will consider 13 prefiled resolutions, one of which authorizes an agreement with the architectural firm of Beck, Tinkham and Beyer of Jamestown to furnish preliminary studies, working drawings, specifications and contract documents for the renovation of the city bus garage on West Third st.

The proposed renovation is part of a comprehensive program designed to upgrade Jamestown's municipal transit system and also calls for the purchase of eight new 35-passenger buses.

The total cost of the program could reach $314,000, half of which will be provided by a federal grant of $157,000 announced last week by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

One item not on the council's agenda may provide the most excitement for the upcoming meeting. Sources in city hall indicate that another effort will be made to appoint Mrs. Anita McDonald of 30 West 22nd st. to the city's welfare board, replacing Rev. Paul A. Westberg.

Mayor Fred H. Dunn submitted Rev. Westberg's name for reappointment several weeks ago but the reappointment was subsequently denied in a tabling motion by City Council.

Councilman Louis Peterson is expected to move for the appointment of Mrs. O'Donald which will need eight votes to be successful.

Noted Organist Sets Youngsville School Appearance

Organist Ashley Miller, recording artist, formerly of Radio City Music Hall, will be featured in a concert of theater music at Youngsville High School auditorium Thursday, April 13.

Featured on his program will be an overture medley; a group of girl friend tunes; three classical compositions, including the often performed Aria-Cantata 156 by J.S. Bach; a special salute to spring consisting of five melodies; music including "Yellow Bird" for the Latin set; selections from Kern, Rodgers, Mancini and Porter in Compositions Corner; a musical grab-bag with "Music to Watch Girls By"; a contrast of old and new music styles; a sing-along for all and a special finale.

Warns Against Dogs On Loose

Some areas in Warren borough are apparently "going to the dogs" again.

Borough manager Victor L. Miller urges dog owners to abide by the provisions of the local ordinance which prohibits canines from running at large. Miller asks that pets be tied or leashed at all times.

Under the state's dog law of 1966, a police officer or other law enforcement agent is permitted to pick up stray dogs, hold them for 10 days and, if the animals are unlicensed, destroy them. If the animals are licensed, the owner must be notified before destruction.

Fesenmyer stressed the fact that the regional authority will not have the ability to commit counties as members to future projects which could run into several millions during the next ten years.

Fesenmyer said there was a possibility that Warren City Lines might contemplate providing a twice daily limousine service to the airport, Sam Loomis, who operates the line, however, said that he has been negotiating with the commission in regard to freight and express service, but not too successfully to date. Loomis said there was nothing definite in the way of limousine transportation.

lars" saved from the Vietnam conflict should be spent on "winning that other war—the war on poverty."

The senator charged that, with Vietnam spending running at $4 billion annually and expected appropriations of $2 billion for the anti-poverty campaign, the U.S. would be spending about $57 per capita to improve the lot of 35 million "impovertished Americans," while it was spending $1,500 for each of the 16 million people in Vietnam, including Viet Cong.

union lately had been driving for a separate agreement with a group of independent operators. Such an accord "would have an impact on us," he said, "but we don't believe it would be fatal to our cause."

The trucking executive also said that the industry had been in touch with Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd, Undersecretary of Labor, James J. Reynolds and the Interstate Commerce Commission. Some sources noted that the Taft-Hartley Act could be invoked to delay a strike for 80 days if it threatened the public health or safety.

There were reports yesterday of isolated actions by some Teamster locals in advance of the deadline. Union members reportedly called in "sick" at Lee-Way Motor Freight in Oklahoma City and Transcon Lines in Los Angeles.

The Union complicated the picture yesterday morning when it began to emphasize demands for safety improvements that would cost the industry 5 per cent a year, Gordon said. The companies had not expected the union to press on those issues, he indicated.

One of the most knotty problems is a union demand for limitations on the industry's use of part-time workers. The union wants the companies to restrict their use and pay its regular workers overtime, but the companies contend this would limit their flexibility.

Briefly Speaking

A 10-day extension on present motor vehicle registration tags that expired last night has been granted by the Secretary of Internal Revenue who acted in accordance with a note issued by Governor Raymond P. Shafer.

State police in the area have been plagued with telephone calls from individuals who missed earlier reports of the continuation.

Franklin Area Teachers Association has asked the American Federation of Teachers, an affiliate of the AFL-CIO, to send a representative to Franklin to discuss the union. The FATA had earlier asked for a salary increase and a "professional negotiations" agreement. The school board denied the request.

Warren Fire Department was called to Pennsylvania Furnace and Iron Company where a faulty system had turned in an alarm at 3:55 p.m. yesterday.

AND THE WALL COMES TUMBLIN' DOWN

Motorists travelling Route 59 along the Allegheny Reservoir must keep an ever watchful eye out as boulders continue to tumble from the cul-de-sac through mountains onto the highway. Previous construction operations have considerably alleviated the slide problem. This current slide occurred near the second parking lot at the dam site. (Photo by Mahan)

Broken Flagpole Pulley Mars SHAPE Headquarters Program

By CLUDE H. FARNSWORTH (c) N.Y. Times News Service CASTEAU, Belgium — The Atlantic Alliance formally opened its supreme military headquarters in Belgium yesterday with one minor mishap — the pulley came off the NATO flagpole at a crucial point in the flag raising ceremonies.

It was 4:55 p.m. in the bling cold of southwestern Belgium when Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme allied commander in Europe, declared SHAPE operational after its expulsion from France.

Flags of the 14 nations that have integrated their military units into Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe crackled in the strong wind as they were yanked up on poles in front of the main headquarters building. Scarlet-tinted, silver-helmeted trumpeters played from the roof of the building.

Fifteen fighter bombers swooped over the headquarters in a deafening crescendo, and then a British army band struck up a regimental march.

For American Army Sgt. Charles Runge of Chester, Ill.

and Dutch Army Sgt. First Class Henry Glimmerveen the moment was more than a little embarrassing.

The flag for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, whose place was front and center of the 14 national flags, was to have gone up with the others. It did not, As Sgt. Runge said later, "the pulley was yanked off."

Lemnitzer made no direct references to the French expulsion in a brief speech to about 300 guests who had assembled for the ceremonies under a large field tent.

This was the beginning of a new era for the alliance, Lemnitzer said, adding: "As the political situation in Europe changes, the alliance adapts itself, incorporating broader political objectives which are designed for the most part to consolidate the successes gained thus far..."

The headquarters was formally handed over to Lemnitzer by Belgian Vice Premier Willy de Clerq, who in a brief speech praised the work of the construction team that was able to make the headquarters ready for SHAPE to meet the deadline of April 1 set by French President De Gaulle for leaving France.

Viet Constitution Effective Today

By KENNETH L. WHITING SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnam's controversial new constitution goes into effect today even as efforts to change it are being mounted.

The official Vietnam Press Agency reported yesterday the government also plans to announce a national reconciliation policy today.

This plan was evolved at the seven-nation Manila summit conference on Vietnam last October. American officials had been reported unhappy it had not been announced earlier. Essentially, it is an attempt to win high-ranking Communist defectors to the government side by promising them special treatment and high position.

Promulgation of the constitution by the military regime is the latest in a year-long series of hurdles blocking the way to civilian rule. Several obstacles remain before election of president, vice president and the upper house of a two house National Assembly scheduled Sept. 1.

Militant Roman Catholic groups demonstrated yesterday against what they termed an atheist constitution. Perhaps 3,000 marchers protested elimination to "the Supreme Being" in the document's preamble. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, nominally a Buddhist, said he "saw no obstacle" to restoring a reference to God in the constitution.

Allshouse Drive Brings VFW Post's Thanks

Twenty-two individuals and organizations have responded to the Veterans of Foreign Wars drive to help the family of Theodore Allshouse, burned out of their Starbuck home last week. Robert Eadie, post commander, extended thanks to the donors yesterday on behalf of the post members.

"I'm sure the Allshouses appreciated it even more than the members of the VFW," Eadie said.

Youthful Puffers Replace Oldsters

By FRANK CAREY
PALM BEACH, Fla., (AP) — The president of the American Cancer Society said last night mounting numbers of American adults have quit smoking cigarettes but that persistently puffing youngsters, including grade schoolers, present a discouraging and dangerous picture.

"We seem to be winning battles against death by cigarettes, but we could be losing the war," said Dr. Ashbel C. Williams, a Jacksonville, Fla., surgeon.

Addressing the opening of the society's ninth annual seminar for science writers, he declared in a prepared report: "We worry much about air pollution (but) the worst and most destructive pollutant of our air is the cigarette."

"An impressive and mounting number of American adults have quit smoking cigarettes, and many more have drastically reduced their consumption of nicotine and tars."

"Unfortunately, however, youngsters in grade school and high school continue to court lung cancer, heart disease and other cigarette-caused diseases to a discouraging degree."

The tobacco industry has long contended there's no proof that cigarette smoking causes any disease.

Statistics aimed at supporting Dr. Williams' statement about teenage smokers were offered in a separate report by Dr. Eva J. Salber of Harvard University.

Describing results of a 5½-year study of the smoking habits of a group of high school students in Newton, Mass., who averaged about 15 years old at the time the study began in 1959 — Dr. Salber reported that, despite efforts to educate the youngsters against smoking:

—More than one-third of the nonsmokers at the beginning of the period have now adopted the habit.
—Few had quit smoking during the period of the study.
—The group as a whole now has almost twice the original number of cigarette smokers.

To support his statement about a drop in cigarette-smoking among American adults, Dr. Williams cited:
1. A U.S. Public Health Service report which "tells us 19 million adults are now former cigarette smokers."
2. An American Cancer Society study of 500,000 adults indicating a drop between 1959 and 1965 of 21 per cent of men cigarette smokers and 12 per cent of women cigarette smokers.

AGAINST GOVERNMENT

Four Automakers File Suits

By CHARLES C. CAIN
DETROIT (AP) — All four of the nation's major automakers filed suits in federal court yesterday challenging three of the government's new safety standards for 1968 cars.

The automakers asked the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati, Ohio, to throw out the passenger impact protection standard. American Motors also challenged two others.

The key target of the industry is the standard setting specifications for equipment in the area of a passenger's head, knees and legs.

The standard is aimed at reducing the chances of a passenger being injured in an accident. General Motors and Ford said they could not meet the standard.

"If the standard is not revised, Ford will be unable to produce automobiles for sale in the United States after Dec. 31, 1967 — when the standard takes effect," Ford said.

Chrysler, which was the first to file in yesterday's flurry of suits, said it would "suffer irreparable harm" if forced to attempt to comply with the stan-

Congressional Wife Helps Husband Gratis

By GORDON BROWN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Now here's a congressional wife who works in her husband's office and is not on his payroll.

This wife—who toils for free—is Elizabeth Williams, wife of Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss.

It is something of a switch as regards congressional payroll stories, which sometimes tell of a wife on the payroll who doesn't work.

After two months on the job, at no salary whatsoever, Mrs. Williams reports "I am crazy about it, I love it."

The chic, attractive Mrs. Williams works as a receptionist in her husband's office and answers the telephone. She doesn't handle correspondence, she says, except for some personal letters for her husband.

Mrs. Williams decided two months ago she would like to help out in the office. She said her three children—the youngest is 12—all are in school and do not require her close supervision. This left her with time on her hands.

So she broached the subject to Williams and, as she said, "What can a husband do?" He did insist, however, that if she worked in the office she would not be on the payroll. This was agreeable to Mrs. Williams.

She worked out her schedule so that she leaves the office at 4 p.m. in order to be home at about the time the children get out of school.

Mrs. Williams plans to work until school is out in June. Then she will return to Mississippi to assist Williams' campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor.

broader authority to dismiss cases which do not measure up to the definition without the necessity of submitting them to a jury trial.

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Council of Churches hailed the proposed legislation as adequate to protect society and at the same time preserve constitutional guarantees of freedom of expression.

However, Justice Michael A. Musmanno, who has dissented on five state Supreme Court decisions on the subject, said he objected to giving judges such blanket powers, preferring instead to allow juries to decide what is obscene and what is not.

Under existing law, "obscene" is defined as "that which, to the average person applying contemporary community standards, has as its dominant theme . . . an appeal to prurient interest."

The new code would liberalize the definition of the word in an attempt to draw a more accurate distinction between vulgarity on the one hand and irreducible obscenity on the other.

Last week the state Superior Court reversed a 1963 decision of a Luzerne County Criminal jury, which had convicted two Wilkes-Barre men of selling obscene publications.

"Our own independent examination of these publications leads us to conclude that the worst that can be said of them is that they are vulgar and tawdry," Judge J. Sydney Hoffman wrote in the 6-1 majority opinion. "But that is not enough to make them obscene. They are not so offensive on their face as to affront contemporary standards of decency."

Asked if there might be a danger in letting the government censor what its citizens read, the justice replied: "The state examines the butter before it is sold, it examines the milk and passes on the meat. If we are pleased with government for seeing that no bad food enters our stomachs, why should we not be pleased if the government determines what goes into our minds?"

Vice President Faces Italian Objection on Nuclear Treaty

By JOHN W. FINNEY HTK
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
ROME — Vice President Humphrey was confronted yesterday with an objection from Italian leaders that the nuclear non-proliferation treaty, as now proposed by the United States, might impede the movement to ward European political unification.

Humphrey ran into unexpected firm Italian reservations on the nuclear treaty, as well as on the U.S. proposals for the Kennedy round of tariff negotiations under way in Geneva, as he conferred with leaders of the Italian coalition government on the fourth stop on his two-week European diplomatic mission.

The vice president was also subjected to his first large-scale hostile demonstration since he arrived in Europe on Monday. As he conferred late in the day with Vice Premier Pietro Nenni, a crowd of approximately 1,000 persons, largely youths, demonstrated outside the Palazzo Chigi, the seat of the Italian government in downtown Rome.

The crowd, apparently organized by the Communists, waved placards deploring the U.S. military involvement in Vietnam and sang in English the civil rights song "We Shall Overcome." When police moved to break up the demonstration across the street from the palace, scuffling resulted and some of the demonstrators threw rocks. The police retaliated by hitting some of the demonstrators with hand-cuff chains. About 300 demonstrators, Rome police reported, were taken into custody.

Because the demonstrators were blocking rush-hour traffic in front of the palace, Humphrey was forced to leave by a rear entrance and did not see any of it.

In a day of what American officials described as "frank family talk" between allies, Humphrey conferred with Premier Aldo Moro, Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani, President Giuseppe Saragat and Nenni.

Chet Tries To Break TV Strike

By ARTHUR EVERETT
NEW YORK (AP) — Union rebel Chet Huntley sought to pull fellow-newscasters out of a striking television and radio network union yesterday, claiming undercover back-to-work support from most of his NBC colleagues.

But his chief rival, Walter Cronkite, high-salaried ace of the CBS news operation, refused to join Huntley, who draws a comparable six-figure salary from NBC. Cronkite said he told Huntley that, "I felt that I had to honor our union obligations."

Huntley's overtures reportedly also were rebuffed by ABC's Howard K. Smith. Nor was there any open endorsement of the revolt from David Brinkley, although Huntley claimed the secret support of his NBC partner. Brinkley has joined the 18,000-member American Federation of Television and Radio Artists on strike. His office said he could not be reached for comment.

AFTRA officials discounted Huntley's claim of widespread support and said their information "is quite the opposite."

Huntley has crossed picket lines to remain on the air during the three-day strike. Although an AFTRA member, he said a union that includes announcers, performers, singers and disc jockeys "does not understand the economics of the news operation in TV."

Huntley sent a telegram to NBC renouncing AFTRA as bargaining agent for newscasters. The move was intended to set up a National Labor Relations Board representation election, and a possible withdrawal of newscasters from the union.

However, the wire bore only two signatures — Huntley's and that of his fellow-rebel from NBC, Frank McGee. Their revolt against the strike has been joined by NBC's Ray Scherer and Morgan Beatty, but neither signed.

Huntley claimed he had polled 40 NBC newscasters and that all but three supported him, although they would not lend their names to the telegram.

He declared: "If I carry the ball, they're completely behind me. Brinkley's name is not on the telegram, but there's no question about his feelings."

The strike of on-the-air AFTRA performers began Wednesday against NBC, CBS, ABC and the Mutual network. It centered on demands by about 100 newscasters for increased wages and commercial fees.

The first peace talks since the strike began were scheduled for today in Washington, under the auspices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Network affiliated stations from coast to coast have stayed on the air. But they have been forced to use supervisory employees as news announcers, and to use reruns in place of freshly taped or live television entertainment programs.

Highways Cost Money

Last month, 24 years ago, license plates in Pennsylvania were raised to $10.

On March 23 the State Highway Commission proposed an increase to $20 to help finance Pennsylvania's long-range highway building program.

Between the two periods, 1943 and 1967, highway construction expenditures have risen considerably. Because records were not kept the same way they are today, a comparison between these two years would be unfair. But if you compare the ten-year interval from 1955 to 1965 you will note a 224 percent increase with $267.7 million being spent for actual highway construction during the 1965-66 fiscal year.

Most of us don't recognize that highway construction is only one of many phases of the rounded activities in providing good roads. Certainly a major one, payments to contractors and other construction work will total less than 50 per cent of the $682.7 million highway budget for 1966-67 while costs continue to skyrocket for acquiring land, maintaining existing highways, designing new ones, supporting state police operations and helping to pay for driver education at the high school level, plus various other cuts into the actual payments for concrete and steel.

The State Highway Commission proposal announced the other day will include 488 major projects. This work will cost an estimated $1 billion, or an average of $2 million a job.

And as Highways Secretary Robert G. Bartlett said "this is only a bite." He admitted that Pennsylvania's program is far from its goal. In fact about a month ago he said that highway needs of Pennsylvania, to meet the demands of safety and the public, will require multi-billion dollar expenditures in the future.

Revenue for highway purposes is raised from highway users. Governor Scranton had said at one time that Pennsylvanians must stand tall and support the programs developed to Make Pennsylvania First in Highways. He had said in a Message to the General Assembly in February 1965 that "Pennsylvania cannot afford to be second best and must be willing to pay the bill."

One of the fastest ways to attain this goal is through a comprehensive and long-range highway building program. Such a plan now exists, thanks to the General Assembly of 1965. The next step is to keep it going. Of course this will cost motorists additional money. It must come from somewhere.

Pennsylvanians have one of the best buys in the nation for driver tags. In fact Pennsylvania has the 14th best buy in the nation. Oklahomans pay $41 Californians, $39 and New Yorkers, $26.25. Neighboring West Virginia charges $24 and little Delaware, $20 and Rhode Island $17. New Jerseyites are now paying $15 and Nebraskans pay $9, while Pennsylvanians have been paying $10 for the last 24 years.

There has been an age-old argument from various groups anytime a tax proposal is considered, "we're being gouged." If people want more highways to stimulate the economy and improve their lot, the facts are simple...someone must pay and who gets more benefits from good highways than the highway user!

Tuy Phuoc Revisited

TUY PHUOC, BINH DINH PROVINCE, VIETNAM... This small corner of French Indochina, which holds more population than many big provinces, also holds the beginning of an answer to one of the truly basic questions about the Vietnamese war.

The question is: What happens to the local Viet Cong political-military structure when the VC and North Vietnamese big units have been defeated and driven off? In the battle for Binh Dinh, this happened so long ago hereabout that I came to Tuy Phuoc last September, at election time, to ask the same question.

In those days the local U.S. military advisers were decidedly reluctant to undertake the short daylight drive from the province capital to Tuy Phuoc. But even then the "big" little district chief, Capt. Pham Xua Tung, gave an answer that offered real hope for the future.

Today, in contrast, Capt. Tung is not merely hopeful. He is instead serenely confident, and as a former mathematics professor in one of the local French lycées he is by no means given to military bragadocio. Moreover, the facts, confirmed by the able Americans who work with Capt. Tung, very strongly support his confidence.

Six months ago he had taken in hand only about half the district, and the rich Go Boi area, as the chief haunt of the local VC. Today Go Boi is in hand again, with thousands of refugees pouring back to work their land. And with the district's borders the VC still in only four of Capt. Tung's 119 hamlets.

Pacification, it should be understood, always spreads outward from the district town. Thus, the fringe hamlets, where the districts join, are the natural refuges of the guerrillas and political cadres of the Viet Cong. But what matters for the moment is not that there are still VC in these uncontrolled fringe areas of the four priority districts in southern Binh Dinh's rich rice plain.

What matters now, rather, is the fact that the VC have been driven out of many, many scores of other hamlets that they used to hold in an iron grip. And just as important is the further fact that these groups of VC in exile are rather swiftly eroding away. Consider, for example, the military VC who are responsible for the nightly harassments and sneak attacks that still continue in this district.

Six months ago Tuy Phuoc was threatened by a force of 80 regular soldiers from the provincial battalion plus the best part of a district company plus more than 700 local guerrillas. Today, death, defection and desertion have eroded this force to no more than 25 regular soldiers, two understrength platoons of the old district company and about 225 guerrillas.

More than half the force has gone in only half a year, and to no purpose. Since New Year's Day revolutionary development teams have been three times subjected to petty attack, and the local self-defense forces have been attacked or harassed much more often. One revolutionary development cadre has been killed, and a few members of the self-defense forces have also been lost. But they have always stood their ground and have given better than they get.

There has been one notably instructive assassination attempt against Chief Vinh of Kim Dong hamlet. The local self-defense force rallied to the hamlet chief's defense, and the VC assassination squad was quickly repulsed. Whereupon Chief Vinh tracked them to one of their riverside caves, which are like muskrat holes with underwater entrances. Plunging in, he popped up in the cave mouth, threw a grenade and hustled out again. All six VC squad members were killed.

Better still, the end of all this is rather clearly in sight. Daily the defectors continue to come in to the local Chieu Hoi center from the VC refuge areas. There were eight yesterday. One was the former favorite messenger of Capt. Tung's late opposite number, the VC district chief who was cornered and killed some months ago. Another was a really important political cadre, Nguyen Chi Cong, who had been both a VC hamlet chief and village chairman of the National Liberation Front.

I asked Cong, a somber, intelligent, older man, what would happen to the VC still remaining in the refuge areas a few months hence when Tuy Phuoc and its three neighbor-districts should have completed the pacification of their fringe hamlets. He laughed a bit grimly and replied:

"They will either follow me to the Chieu Hoi camp, or they will die or flee to the western hills (beyond the rice plain) where they will starve."

None of this means that the job ahead in Tuy Phuoc will be easy or simple. For example, the VC high command still disposes of the hard core of the Communist hard core—the local leaders so important that their VC role was always covert. These people are now being sent back into the villages and hamlets, and it is a long, slow job to identify them and track them down as they reveal themselves.

Again, what is happening in Tuy Phuoc and its neighbor-districts in this rice plain does not necessarily predict what will happen to the two rice plains further to the north or south. But it does mean that in this still-unique area, where the local VC infrastructure has been wholly deprived of support from the enemy's big units, the infrastructure has been disintegrating at a most encouraging rate—far more rapidly, indeed, than anyone had hoped.

A Modest Wager

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—The purpose of the ensuing epistle is to bet one (1) plugged nickel that the Republican presidential nominee in 1968 will be Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

The modern political trend is going with the under-dog and therefore in his favor. Who would have bet even a nickel at this early point in recent campaigns on John Kennedy for President or Lyndon Johnson for Vice President?

And it's hard to believe, even now, that the GOP nominated Barry. Yet the world is now being run by a lot of long shots and dark horses: Johnson in Washington, Brezhnev and Kossygin in Moscow, Klesinger in Bonn, Wilson in London, Mrs. Gandhi in New Delhi, and of course, Lurleen in Alabama.

On the surface, everything is against Rockefeller. He has taken himself out of the race. He has said his decision is irrevocable and even irreversible. He has been divorced and he is from New York, two popular proofs of naughtiness. He is away down in the popularity polls and all the big newspapers have agreed he is through. Obviously, no man with so many handicaps can be ruled out.

His great advantage is his competition. Former Vice President Nixon is about where Senator Robert A. Taft was in 1952: a diligent man with a genius for losing. Also, although he is making progress, Nixon is not a millionaire, and the last non-millionaire presidential nominee was Harry Truman.

George Romney is a millionaire, and in this sense meets the presidential qualifications, but he is said to be weak on foreign affairs, which are about the only affairs we have these days, and this puts him at a disadvantage with Rockefeller, who invented Latin American relations, has a ranch in Venezuela, has been an assistant secretary of state, and not only knows about the under-developed nations, but has even written a book on how to federate the big overdeveloped nations.

The only people who have observed these odd facts about the Republican candidates, incidentally, are the Democrats in general, and John Bailey, the Democratic National Committee chairman, in particular. They know that their problems in the presidential campaign of 1968 are the war in Vietnam and the anti-Johnson liberals in the universities, the labor unions, the press, and the cities, and they are a little afraid of Rockefeller because they feel he would cut into the Democratic party's strength more than any other potential Republican nominee.

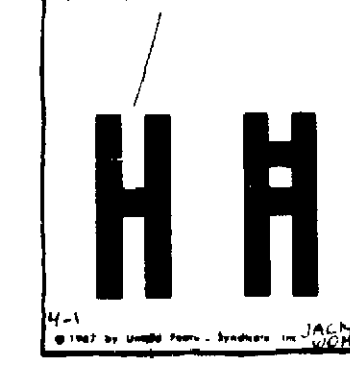

The Republican "regulars" of course, scoff at this idea. The fact that the Democrats have thought about it is enough to convince them that it is no good, so they go on talking mainly about Romney and Nixon and wondering vaguely about Gov. Reagan of California, and Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, who has lately been stealing Bobby Kennedy's jokes and using them against him.

Nevertheless, the way the Republicans are going to pick Rocky is fairly plain. Romney is going to come into the astrodome with a lead in the first few ballots, but will be rejected in the end on the ground that Vietnam is complicated enough the way it is.

Nixon will then be put forward as a compromise candidate, but somebody is bound to think about the ghastly prospect of having to choose between Johnson, Nixon, and George Wallace for the presidency of the United States. At this point, the 25 Republican governors could be decisive, as they were in the 52 GOP convention in Chicago.

In desperation, then, it is just conceivable that one of them could raise the question of who might have the experience and qualifications to run well in the big cities and make not a bad President, and if this question ever did come up, somebody is bound to think about Rockefeller.

Speculation In The South

GADSDEN, Ala.—The chief speculation in the Deep South is whether ex-Gov. George Wallace can take a big enough bite out of the Democratic vote as an independent candidate to defeat President Lyndon Johnson in 1968 and whether his present move to block Alabama school integration will help him do it.

There is no real doubt in the mind of any political observer but that the Wallace family's move to thwart both the federal courts and the federal government on integration is intimately tied to George's plans to run for President.

But will it help him? Has not school integration progressed to the point where most Southern voters regard battling it as a lost cause? Won't the current furor stirred up by the Wallaces hurt George's Presidential ambitions rather than help?

Certainly in Gadsden it will not help. Gadsden is a thriving city proud of Republic Steel's expansion, proud that Goodyear makes more tires in its Gadsden plants than in all the rest of the USA, proud that Allis Chalmers, Timex, I.D. Precision and other Northern industries have moved here. Gadsden has harmonious race relations and wants to keep them that way. A furor over school integration will not be welcome.

Earlier, when I visited Birmingham, largest Alabama city, and Mobile, the second largest, I found their businessmen had been front-runners in insisting on racial harmony. Birmingham businessmen had helped get rid of the police commissioner and the police dogs which gave the city such unfavorable publicity. If it had not been for edicts from the Wallaces in Montgomery, they said, race relations would have improved much faster.

Doesn't Want to Be Upstaged

WASHINGTON — The administration is still mad at the press coverage given to President Johnson's much publicized trip to Guam, and well they might be. A great deal of the news coming out of the conference had to do with South Vietnam Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's statements, rather than with what President Johnson had to say, and since Premier Ky hadn't even been invited until the last minute, it was only natural that the Johnson people would be upset.

The rumor is that President Johnson has no intention of allowing Premier Ky to upstage him again. We can just imagine what will happen the next time the President decides to go anywhere.

"Mr. President, it's Marshall Ky on the phone."

"Doggone, he's probably found out about my trip to Punta del Este in Uruguay next month. Hello, Marshall, how are you? ... Yes, Ah got home fine ... Yes, it was a wonderful trip. It was good seeing you at Guam. ... Ah was glad you could make it. ... No, I didn't mind you talking to the press at all ... Yes, they ran our picture in all the papers. ... Ah'll send you the clips. ... What can Ah do for you, Marshall? ... You heard about my trip to Punta del Este and you were wondering if you could come along? ... Well, Ah don't know, Marshall. ... My meeting down there isn't going to have much to do with Vietnam. ... What's that you say? It doesn't matter? ... Gosh, Marshall, Ah sure would like to have you come, because you add so much to a conference, but Ah'm meeting with the leaders of all the

Furthermore, Alabama business does not want to jeopardize the $72,100,512 of federal funds which flows into Alabama each year to bolster state schools. It would take a healthy tax increase to make up that deficit.

Meanwhile federal figures show that in regard to school integration Alabama is the most backward of all Southern states. An over-all average of 12.5 per cent of Negro students are now integrated in the Southern states; with Texas, home state of the President, leading. Negro students are 34.6 per cent integrated in Texas; in Virginia, 20 per cent are integrated; in Tennessee, 21.9 per cent; Florida, 14.7 per cent; Arkansas, 14.5 per cent; and North Carolina, 12.3 per cent.

Most backward states are Alabama, with 2.4 per cent; Louisiana, 2.6 per cent; Mississippi, 2.6 per cent; South Carolina, 4.9 per cent; and Georgia, 6.6 per cent.

Some of the border states, such as Kentucky, with 88.5 per cent; Delaware, 84.8 per cent; and West Virginia, 83.4 per cent, are high up in the national average. Meantime, there are significant pockets of compliance even in hostile areas.

In Little Rock, Ark., where federal bayonets bristled 10 years ago, 1,000 out of a total 8,000 Negro pupils are integrated with whites and another 1,000 will follow in the next school year. There also has been teacher desegregation in Little Rock under the direction of Superintendent Floyd Parsons.

William H. Fowler, a Negro educator, recently was named assistant superintendent in charge of personnel for the Little Rock school district. As such he will have broad administrative powers over recruitment, assignment and evaluation of all professional and clerical personnel in Little Rock public schools.

South American countries and they might not understand you showing up there. ... You won't say anything? You'll just observe? ... That's what you said before you came to Guam. ... No, Ah'm not mad about your coming to Guam. Ah don't care what the papers wrote. ... Heck, it wouldn't have been the same without you. ... Of course Ah want to see you soon, Ah was just telling Dean Rusk yesterday, 'Ah wonder when we'll see our little friend and partner again.' But Ah feel, as he does, that we should hold off on another meeting for a while, just so that everyone candidest this one.

"You say you still want to come to Punta del Este? ... You'd like to raise the question about our bombing Hanoi? ... Ah really don't think that's the place to raise it, Marshall. ... You see, we have problems in South America that have nothing to do with Vietnam. ... Now, Marshall, don't feel that way. ... Ah assure you that you won't lose face with your people if you're not invited to Punta del Este. ... No, Gen. Westmoreland and the ambassador aren't going either. ... It's just going to be me, Dean Rusk and Sol Linowitz. ... We have no intention of selling you out in Uruguay. Believe me, Ah wouldn't lie to you. ... What's that? You want to know if the Viet Cong have been invited? Of course not. And Ho Chi Minh hasn't been asked either. ... Naturally, we consider you a full partner and ally, but that's got nothing to do with your being invited to an Alliance for Progress conference in South America. ... Ah understand that, Marshall. We're aware that you're just a little country and we're a big country, but you shouldn't feel that we're going to sell you out just because you are not invited to every conference the United States attends. ... What's that? Ah didn't tell you about the Punta del Este conference at Guam because it hadn't occurred to me you'd be interested in it. ... How can you say Ah was holding out on you? ... Ah tell you what, As soon as Ah get back from Uruguay Ah'll call you and let you know what happened. Fine, fine. The same to you, Marshall. And give my best to your pacification program."

The President hangs up. "Whew, that was close. Oh, Marvin, tell the CIA if former Ky starts making any inquiries about flights to South America, Ah want to be the first to know about it."

Just Say 'PIDA'

HARRISBURG — Say "PIDA" around this town and even the squirrels on the Capitol Lawn stand up and salute. Really, the squirrels have no reason to be grateful—not since Gov. Bill Scranton dropped their $500 allowance, for nuts, from one of his early budgets. But this is a politically attuned town; even the squirrels know how you can never tell when the power structure will change.

While other Administrations officials carefully curry legislative favor as they plan their budget requirements, the Commerce Secretary — Hazleton's Cliff Jones — needs merely to whisper the industrial development fund is running short and the legislature clamors to enact more funds.

Since conceived in 1955 by the late Bill Davlin, Secretary of Commerce under Gov. Leader, the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority has broadened its assistance powers, allocations have been increased, and the dates have changed. But the language remains the same.

Thus, when he signed another $15 million into law during March, Gov. Shafer was reading Scripture: "I am extremely grateful to our legislators," he said, "for fast action in this extremely critical appropriation. PIDA has been a strong arm in restoring economic stability to the Pennsylvania economy during the past four years. Certainly we can attribute much of our success in bringing unemployment to all-time lows over the last two years to PIDA."

Harrisburg is, after all, a town of clichés. This condition is never more evident than when the Legislature is absent. The legislative combatants took off for the Easter holidays and so the duplicating machines hummed happily. ...

The Pennsylvania Tavern Association grabbed the opportunity to revive its proposal for Sunday liquor sales. "We are not asking for the privilege of selling beer and liquor on Sunday for ourselves alone," said the PTA. "We want to serve the average 'little man' who may not want to frequent a speakeasy or join a club or travel across the state line. We want to help retain Pennsylvania business in Pennsylvania."

Robert L. Kuenzig, new head of the General State Authority, but schooled in the big leagues, in Washington, said he would put an FBI School graduate in charge of GSA Investigation and Security. "Quite obviously," said Mr. Kuenzig, "should the new unit find evidence of misconduct, (it) will bring it to my attention so that the matter may be referred to local or state officials charged with the responsibility of prosecuting law breakers." Quite obviously.

Representative H. Jack Seltzer, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee rushed into the Harrisburg vacuum from Lebanon, to announce special public hearings to determine the fiscal needs of Pennsylvania's human services programs. ## Handy Andy

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
MIAMI — Before spring training began a year ago expert appraisers gave the Baltimore Orioles' catching staff the rather undistinguished rating of "adequate." This meant it was good enough to get by, but not much more. The appraisal was based on the premise that Dick Brown would be first-string with Charlie Lau as his back-up man. Oh, yes; also on the premises was a big kid named Andy Etchebarren, but this 22-year-old greenhorn was expected to be back in the minors by opening day.

Before the Orioles flew past the grounded Dodgers in the world series, however, the estimate of catching strength had taken a sharp upward turn. It advanced from the adequate description to somewhere between good and excellent.

Yet Brown had been rushed to the hospital with a brain tumor a few days after training camp opened—his life saved but his career ended—and Lau was sidelined virtually all season as the result of an operation on the elbow of his throwing arm. It was the total stranger, Etchebarren, who averted total disaster.

"That kid did one helluva job," said Hank Bauer with all the emphasis at his command. "We couldn't have won the pennant without him. He was forced to move up without warning and he showed all the poise and skills of a veteran. He gave us a lot of big hits early in the season and drove in more runs than any catcher in the league."

Hank takes a paternalistic pride in his Handy Andy and made a sort of teacher's pet out of him. Right from the beginning he hung on him the nickname of "Little Yogi."

"I'm better looking than Yogi," retorted Etchebarren the first time his manager so addressed him. Andy is correct but his winning margin would be slight. However, he is taller by five inches and weighs more at a solid 195 pounds.

His teammates have a different nickname. They call him "lurch" because they think he bears a striking resemblance to Lurch, the butler on the television horror show, "The Addams Family." At any rate, he ain't no beauty. But as Yogi himself used to remark philosophically, "I don't hafta catch the ball with my face."

It was Bauer who removed the pressure from Etchebarren's brawny shoulders as soon as it became obvious that the young man would have to assume the burden of filling in the key varsity job.

"From now on, Andy," said the boss, "you're my No. 1 catcher. I don't care if your batting average drops to .100. Forget about hitting and concentrate on defense. You don't know the league. Look over to the bench if you're not sure what pitch to call and we'll help you."

In the early games Etchebarren peeked constantly in the direction of the bench for help. But as soon as he got to know the hitters and as his confidence increased, he kept looking less and less, until he stopped looking at all.

The novice was doing such a beautiful job that he was picked as reserve catcher on the All Star team. Even though he didn't see action, his selection was a notable tribute to his hustle and his skills.

"Just after the All Star Game," Andy said sadly, "I was hit on the back of my hand by a pitch by Dennis Higgins of the White Sox. I had a hairline fracture but was back three days later and tore the tendons at the same spot. I was out for almost a month and never could pick up my hitting rhythm when I got back."

Andy's first big-league hit was a blast to left center in the Yankee Stadium. It went between Mickey Mantle and Tom Tresh and by the time they'd caught up with it he had an inside-the-park home run. But it was not until a morning in Boston that he realized how high and fancy life in the big leagues can be. Curt Blefary, his effervescent roommate, told the story.

"We woke up about 11," said the breezy Curt, "and I called room service. We usually have a breakfast steak because we're not going to eat again until after the night game."

"Let's eat big today," says Andy.

"Okay," I say. So instead of the breakfast steak, we order porterhouse steak plus three or four eggs apiece, a couple of big glasses of orange juice and all the trimmings. When the tab came, we almost fainted. Everything was a la carte and we had to shell out 27 bucks.

"Andy is a great guy to room with. He's flaky, of course, but not quite as crazy as I am."

Andy also is a big league catcher of rapidly developing proficiency.

"I wouldn't mind looking like Yogi," he said with a twisted smile, "if I could only catch like him."

He need not worry. He's already started to move into Yogi's class.

Bad Seas Damage Yachts In America's Cup Trial

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Gretel won her first race against Dame Pattie yesterday in their America's Cup trials as rough seas damaged both yachts, swept two crewmen overboard and injured another.

Gretel, now behind 5-1, captured the race by 1 minute, 9 seconds after Dame Pattie lost three Genoa jibs and Gretel one in seas whipped by wind gusts that reached 40 miles an hour.

Dame Pattie's first break happened only 200 yards from the start and took four minutes to reset. The second took seven minutes to replace and the third gave way near the finishing line and allowed Gretel to take the lead.

Gretel's Genoa ripped only 400 yards from the finish and she finished under her mainsail. She also broke a backstay.

Gretel lost two crewmen overboard, but both were hauled aboard as they were swept past the cockpit. A winchman on Dame Pattie was found unconscious on deck. He did not know what hit him.

The 12-meter yachts, fighting for the right to represent Australia against the United States for the Cup off Newport, R.I., in September, were given today order to repair damage. The trials resume tomorrow.

Mario Cops Berth in Atlanta 500

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Ambitious Mario Andretti moved a notch nearer a weekend grand slam in racing yesterday by winning a berth in the Atlanta 500.

The little Masereth, Pa., driver sent his 1967 Ford through a qualifying run at 143,923 miles an hour after flying in from Sebring, Fla., where he has won the pole spot for the 12-hour endurance race today.

Andretti's qualifying speed — sixth best of the day—on the Atlanta track put him in the 22nd post for the $77,000 race. He left after qualifying to return to Sebring for his bid there, and will fly back to Atlanta early tomorrow to wrap up a grueling weekend.

Andretti was among eight drivers who nailed down spots yesterday, with 16 qualifying in earlier tests.

The final 20 spots in the 44-car race will be settled this afternoon in a 30-lap tuneup for tomorrow's showdown, where the winner will claim $18,500.

Top speed yesterday was posted by C. C. Spencer, of Jonesboro, Tenn., who averaged 147,058 miles an hour over the four-lap trial run in his 1967 Plymouth.

Volleyball Coach

CHICAGO (AP)—James E. Coleman, 35, of George Williams College, was named yesterday coach of the United States volleyball team for the Pan-American Games, July 23-Aug. 6.

The Dodgers themselves expressed hope Davis will be ready for duty when the defending National League champions open the season at Cincinnati April 10.

The club's front office here was advised that Davis' leg has been placed in a splint and later will be encased in a short cast.

Dr. Kerlan said X rays revealed a bone chip in the ankle but he believes this was an old injury not related to the current trouble.

Davis was hurt attempting to slide into second base at Tampa, Fla., Wednesday in an exhibition game with Kansas City.

After treatment in Florida, where it was believed a bone had been broken, Davis and fellow outfielder Lou Johnson flew to Los Angeles.

Johnson had complained of stomach pains. The Dodgers awaited further word on his condition.

PONCE, P.R. (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles exploded for seven runs with two out in the seventh inning and defeated Pittsburgh 8-4 in exhibition baseball last night.

Luis Aparicio opened the assault with a double, and Baltimore behind 4-1. Woody Fryman, who had given up just one run and four hits in six innings, then fell apart.

Two walks, three singles and Dave Johnson's triple produced six runs, and one more crossed on a walk and Frank Robinson's single.

Bill Dillman, who pitched the last three innings, picked up the victory, while Fryman was tagged with the loss.

Fryman and Donn Clendenon hit homers for Pittsburgh, which absorbed its seventh loss against 12 victories and a tie. Baltimore is 9-11.

TAKES 2-STROKE LEAD OVER POTT

George Archer Burns Up Greensboro Open Course

By KEN ALTYA
Associated Press Sports Writer
GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—George Archer eagled the final hole yesterday for a seven-under par 64 that gave him a 36-hole total of 131 and a two-stroke lead over Johnny Pott in the $125,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

The 6-foot-6 Archer equaled with his 32-32 the record for the par-71 Sedgefield Country Club course, a 7,000-yarder. He broke the tournament's half-way record by two strokes as he stood 11 under par.

He had six birdies, four in succession, to pass Pott, first day leader, who shot 68 for his 133 total.

Dave Stockton was alone in third place at 134 after a pair of 67's. And defending champion Doug Sanders was another stroke back after a 68 yesterday.

Archer noted, "I got the maximum out of my round. I was not driving well, hooking three shots severely, but I saved my par each time. I putted real well."

The 27-year-old San Francisco native, in his fourth year as a professional, has one tour victory, the Lucky International at San Francisco two years ago.

Archer took a big step toward clinching a place in next week's Masters Tournament. Two berths still open will go to the pros with the best winter tour records. He led the point standings starting play here.

Gary Player and Chi Chi Rodriguez each shot his second 68 to tie for fifth place at 136.

The two top money winners of the year, Julius Boros and Arnold Palmer, followed at 137, each shooting 68. They were joined by R. H. Sikes, who carded 67.

Palmer started with an 18-foot birdie putt and finished with a 20-footer for an eagle. But in between he was even with three birds, a bogey and a double bogey six on No. 8, where he drove out of bounds.

A score of 145 was the cutoff point, with 74 players qualifying for final rounds today and Sunday. They will be seen on national television starting at 4 p.m. (EST) each day.

Sam Snead, eight-time winner here, shot 69 for a 138 total, seven strokes off the pace. He is tied for 10th place with Joe Carr, who had 67.

Paired with Arnie, Bolt Bolts Tourney

By KEN ALTYA
Associated Press Sports Writer
GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Tommy Bolt celebrated his 49th birthday yesterday by bolting out of the $125,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament after playing eight holes of the second round.

The official reason was listed as an aching back.

But apparently the combined onslaught of Arnold Palmer's famed "army" and Chi Chi Rodriguez's task force of "banditos" had as much to do with Bolt's departure as his back.

Bolt, 1958 U.S. Open champion, had shot a first-round 70 for Thursday and in yesterday's play he was paired with Palmer and the 116-pound Rodriguez.

Bolt told newsmen later:

"Arnold is a fine fellow and Chi Chi is good to play with, but those crowds just can't be controlled."

"Arnie does the best he can. He tried to control them, but when you get that many people together it's hard. I was cast as the villain of the threesome."

"Thursday, I was right in the middle of my backswing on one hole when one fellow yelled, 'Where's Palmer's ball?' I told him it was on the green."

Bolt noted that members of

Cards' Advance Sale Sets Mark

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — General Manager Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals announced yesterday that the club has established a record advance season ticket sales.

Musial told a meeting of the Cardinals board of directors in the Tampa, Fla., offices of Anheuser-Busch Inc., that $1,279,576 worth of season tickets had been sold for the 1967 campaign. This topped the old mark of $1,278,000 set last year.

Falconer Seeks Grid Opponents

Falconer (N.Y.) Central High School has two open dates in football for the 1967 season and is seeking an opponent from this area. The open weekends are October 27-28 and November 3-4.

Falconer has approximately 230 boys in the top three grades and plays its league games in the Southwestern Conference of Chautauque and Cattaraugus Counties.

Interested schools can contact Nicholas Fedorka, Athletic Director, Falconer Central High School, Falconer, New York.

SHOT MAY MEAN TITLE SHOT

Floyd Patterson knocks out Bill McMurray in 2:37 of the first round of their bout in Pittsburgh Thursday night. Patterson started McMurray down with a left hook, then followed up with a right cross for the KO. The victory may have earned the former two-time heavyweight champion another shot at Cassius Clay, who hopes to get in one more fight before his draft induction later this month.

Ford vs. Chaparral At Sebring Enduro

By BEN FUNK
SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Unless mechanical troubles plague them again, it'll be Ford versus Chaparral today in Sebring's 12-hour sports car endurance race, second in the series for the 1967 world prototype championship.
If these big, seven-liter machines falter, as they did in the 24-hour Continental at Daytona Beach, Germany's small tough Porsches could roar in to sweep the honors.
"It's the Fords and Chapar-rals we must beat, of course," said David Piper, whose London racing team will carry the banner of Italy's Ferrari factory with a privately entered four-liter prototype.
Enzo Ferrari, who dealt a humiliating 1-2-3 defeat to Ford's world champions at Daytona, held his factory team out of the Sebring race, robbing it of much of its usual glamour.
Dan Gurney, a star of the Ford racing team who will be in the unusual role of a spectator
this time, said a Ford Mark-IV prototype to be driven by Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., and Bruce McLaren of New Zealand, "is the fastest car here."
"If it doesn't have trouble, it should win," Gurney said. "Otherwise, it's anybody's race — Chaparral and Porsche probably."
With only two entries instead of its usual five or six, the Ford factory is not using Gurney in this race. Eagerly sought as a co-driver by Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico, who has entered a two-liter Ferrari Dino, Gurney was forced to decline because of his contract. He also was courted unsuccessfully by the Porsche factory.
Ford's Mark-IV, driven by Andretti, was clocked at 215.8 miles per hour in proving ground tests. The factory's second entry is a new lightweight version of the Mark-II, with which it won the world title in 1966.
A. J. Foyt, an Indianapolis 500 winner, and Lloyd Ruby, co-driver of the winning Mark-II at both Daytona and Sebring last year, will drive the second Ford machine.
The star driver of the Chaparral team, former world champion Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., was stricken yesterday with a probable appendicitis attack and taken to a St. Petersburg hospital.
Jim Hall of Midland, Tex., entered two Chaparrals like the one which sped to victory over a rain-flooded track here in 1965.
McMillan suffered a shoulder separation last August and underwent surgery in September.
He was released by the Mets over the winter but was invited to spring training to try and win his job back.
Manager Wes Westrum told McMillan to take his time getting his shoulder in shape and on March 15 he played six innings in a B squad game. Three days later he started another game against the Braves at West Palm Beach but quit after one inning when he suffered a temporary dislocation of the shoulder.
Working out again this week,
McMillan again felt a pull in the shoulder and had to quit.

WIN, PLACE, SHOW OR FINISH?

A racing fan at Cleveland's Ascot Park runs the gamut of emotions from concern, vocal expression and dejection during a race held last week. Judging from the final picture, his horse definitely did not finish first. Would you be- lieve last?

Five Home-Breds Hopeful In Today's Florida Derby

By GENE PLOWDEN
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Eleven 3-year-olds go postward in today's $100,000-added Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park and a Florida-bred has the best chance to win the big prize since Carry Back did it in 1961.
Five of the probable starters were foaled in the Sunshine
State and two of them, in Reality and Tumble Wind, were rated most likely to upset the heavily favored entry of Reason To Hail and Reflected Glory.
The veteran Hirsch Jacobs trains the entry and Reflected Glory, with Jorge Velasquez, and Reason To Hail, with Walter

Blum were held at 7-5 in the early "line."

In Reality, with Earlie Fires in the saddle, was 7-2 and Wheatley Stable's Great Power, with Bradilo Baeza, was held at 4-1, with Tumble Wind at 6-1 with Willie Shoemaker riding.
Billier, with Ray Broussard,
Southern Charming with Kenard Knapp and Kar-Stan, under Calvin Stone, were outsiders. All three were raised in Florida.
Others going, also given outside chances to win, were Proviso, with Don Pierce; Gentleman James, with William Boland, and Nohesitor, with Frank Callico.

headed by Disciplinarian and Solo Landing, second and fourth, respectively, back of Damasus in last Saturday's Bay Shore at Aqueduct. They'll carry topweight of 122 pounds each. Great White Way, with a 119-pound package, also is down to make his first start for Mrs.
Henry Gore after winning the Dover at Delaware Park for Ogden Phipps last year.

All except the five Floridabreds were foaled in Kentucky.
Needles is the only other home-bred to win this race, in 1956.
First prize for the 1 1/4-mile feature is $99,400, exceeded in the previous 15 runnings only by the $100,000 guaranteed to Correlation (1954) and Nashua (1955).
Tumble Wind, owned jointly by his breeder, Llangollen Farm, and Rock Spring Farm, was not nominated for the race but came here after a campaign in California and was made eligible on payment of $5,000.
In addition to the winner's share, the purse is divided among the first four finishers after that, with $20,000 to second, $10,000 to third, $7,000 to fourth and $3,000 to fifth.
Post time is 5:18 p.m. (EST).
Three-year-olds, several of whom hope to make it to Churchill Downs for the May 6 Kentucky Derby, also will be seen in action in the six furlongs of the $25,000-added Pimlico Stakes at Pimlico.

THIRTEENTH IN SERIES Reds' Mound Staff Weak

By JACK HAND
AP Sports Writer
TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Dave Bristol put it on the line when he took over last July as manager of the Cincinnati Reds.
"Either you are 100 per cent for me or you're 100 per cent against me," he told a clubhouse meeting. "I'm going to be the boss and I want the cooperation of everybody. All of you be ready because somewhere along the line I'm going to make use of you."

Titus Captures Wreck Marred Trans-American

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Jerry Titus of Sherman Oaks, Calif., breezed to victory yesterday in the four-hour Trans-American sedan race marred by a fiery crash of two smaller cars.
Titus drove a Ford Mustang 73 times around the flat 5.2-mile asphalt and concrete course at an average 94.824 miles per hour, led all the way, and finished one minute ahead of Mark Donohue of Stoney Brook, N.Y., in a Chevrolet Camaro.
Richard Thompson of Washington, D.C., was third in a Mustang; Milton Minter of Kresno, Calif., fourth in a Mustang; Ed Leslie of Monterey, Calif., fifth in a Mercury Cougar; Bob Brown of Huntington, N.Y., sixth in a Camaro and Bob Thorpe of Pompano Beach, Fla., seventh in a Camaro.

when 33-year-old Bristol took over. Although they finished seventh they did play better than 500 ball the rest of the way.
"Pitching and defense can keep a club in the pennant race for along time," said Bristol this spring. "Pitching is the big thing on this club or any club.
Pittsburgh has to be the club to beat but if we get good years from all our people we can be right up there."

Bristol, a positive thinker, has some very sound ideas about managing.
"I have no dog house," he said. "If you have one with three men in it, you are trying to win with only 22 men, letting the other guy beat you with 25."
"There is good rapport between myself and the players.
Of the 50 we had in camp, 25 played for me in the minors."
"I can't leave the game in the clubhouse and go home and forget about it. It is too serious to me. Not many guys at 33 have an opportunity like this and I intend to take advantage of it."
Bristol interspersed his remarks with sprints of tobacco juice. He started chewing years ago although he says "mama told me she wished I'd leave the tobacco alone. My daddy has been chewing since he was five."

spring was to shift all-star Pete
Rose from second to left field, Rookie of the Year Tommy Helms from third to second and
third. A second to third shift of Rose and Helms last year failed to work out for his predecessor, Don Hefner.

Bristol must get more out of his pitching staff if the club is to move up in the standings. Jim Maloney, 16-8, is the leader but Sammy Ellis, 12-19, dropped off from a 22-10 season and Milt Pappas, 12-11, did not come close to evening up the deal that sent Frank Robinson to Baltimore last year.

Billy McCool, 8-8, has been promoted from the bullpen to starter.

Bristol's revamped line-up will show either Lee May, .310 at Buffalo, or Tony Perez, .265, at first. Helms, .284, will be second. All-Star Leo Cardenas
.255, at short and Johnson, .257,
at third.

Rose, .313, will play left, Vada Pinson, .288, center and Tommy Harper, .278, right, backed up by Art Shamsky, .231 with 21 homers, Dick Simon, .238, and Floyd Robinson, .237 with the White Sox.

A comeback is expected by catcher John Edwards, .191, who will platoon with Don Pav-letich, .294.

April Proclaimed Bicycle Safety Month By Gov. Shafer

Governor Raymond P. Shafer has proclaimed April to be Bicycle Safety Month in Pennsylvania.

"Last year there were 31 bicycle riders fatally injured in highway accidents in Pennsylvania. This is an amazingly low number of fatalities for the population of Pennsylvania," the Governor said. "However, we must be constantly aware that unless stringent safety practices are enforced, this fatality figure can and will climb rapidly."

"In 1967, let's strive to further reduce the number of children fatally injured. We can do this by driving defensively and anti-icipating the antics of the cyclist," urged to encourage bicycle safety. In 1965, bicycle accidents took the lives of 44 children in the Commonwealth. 1966 statistics represent a decrease of 29.5 percent over that of the previous year.

Commissioner Harry H. Brainerd of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Traffic Safety said the purpose of the Bicycle Safety proclamation is to remind motorists and cyclists alike of the need for added caution in the warm weather months ahead.

"With the approach of spring weather thousands of children will be riding their bikes on public highways, many of them for the first time since last summer. It behooves every Pennsylvania motorist to be alert for the mistakes of these youngsters," the Commissioner said.

"All law enforcement agencies, civic and fraternal organizations are urged to promote bicycle safety in their respective communities. Foremost among those

Adult Testing Scheduled On Two Saturdays

Tests of General Education Development will be administered to interested adults at the Warren Campus of Edinboro State College at 9 a.m. Saturday, April 15.

The purpose of the test is to check the qualifications of individuals interested in obtaining a secondary school diploma.

Areas to be tested are correctness of expression, interpretation reading in the field of science or social studies, interpretation of literary material and general mathematical ability.

Pre-approval forms must be presented at the first session and cost of the examination is $5 per adult. This fee covers both testing dates. The second testing date is Saturday, April 22.

Since each session will require approximately four to five hours of testing, participants should plan to eat in town or bring a light lunch.

Those having questions in regard to administration of the testing are asked to contact Felix Matthews at Youngsville High School.

Oblock Working To Relocate Area Highway

KANE — Oblock Construction Co. has started heavy equipment in action clearing right-of-way for the $1,579,713 relocation of Route 321 north of Kane from the Morrison area to a junction with Route 59 near Marshburg.

The project is the last major Army Corps relocation for Kinzua Dam in Pennsylvania and will leave only four miles, from Kane borough north, to complete the route.

Meanwhile Kane must hope for direct access to the Kinzua Dam area via a US Forest Service route along west perimeter of the reservoir, a project scheduled for completion this summer via Kiasutha, Camp Cornplanter to a Jake's Rocks overlook road from Route 59.

BICYCLE SAFETY MONTH

Harry H. Brainerd, Pennsylvania's Commissioner of Traffic Safety, holds the Governor's Proclamation proclaiming April Bicycle Safety Month, while Governor Shafer prepares to prove to onlookers that he can still ride a bike even if it has to be done in the Governor's Reception Room at the Capitol. Part of the month long program will be the distribution of over a million bike safety brochures to schools throughout Pennsylvania and the running of public service ads in State newspapers. Oh yes—the Governor rode the bike without a mishap.

Warren County Receives $253,251 In Fuels Taxes

Pennsylvania's political subdivisions today will begin receiving checks totaling $34,209,357 as their share of liquid fuels taxes collected during fiscal 1965-66.

Payments are based on 100 per cent of the 4 1/2 cents of liquid fuels and fuels use taxes collected and mark the first time a 100 per cent payment has been made. A new Act of the Legislature in 1965 authorized the change in payments that previously had been made twice annually.

State Highways Secretary Robert G. Bartlett explained that the payments over the last nine years have been 90 per cent of the 4 1/2 cents in April of each year and the remaining 10 per cent in October. The latter payment will not be made in the future.

In a letter to the 2,561 municipalities in the Commonwealth, Bartlett said "... be again reminded that at least 25 per cent of these funds must be used for construction if your road system is not completely improved." The law requires the balance to be used for other highway work and maintenance.

Second class townships in Warren County will receive the following: Brokenstraw, $13,958.46; Cherry Grove, $1,245.95; Columbus, $18,246.88; Conewango, $18,738.28; Deerfield, $7,206.92; Eldred, $12,567.52; Elk, $8,794.81; Farmington, $16,848.74; Freehold, $14,476.57; Glade, $6,418.88; Limestone, $3,452.39; Mead, $5,793.21; Pine Grove, $10,953.94; Pittsfield, $10,633.83; Pleasant, $5,503.20; Sheffield, $7,570.43; Southwest, $9,879.44; Spring Creek, $15,779.46; Sugar Grove, $17,529.81; Triumph, $9,046.89; Watson, $333.17.

Warren County's six boroughs will receive the following: Bear Lake, $842.47; Clarendon, $1,499.06; Sugar Grove, $1,607.38; Tidoute, $2,374.26; Warren, $27,497.32; Youngsville, $4,450.70.

Warren county total: $253,251.86.

18 JUVENILE COURT HEARINGS

County Probation Office Submits Its Annual Report

The Warren County Probation Office, under the direction of Chief Probation Officer L. E. Linder, has submitted its annual report for 1966 to Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr.

It is noted that the staff, at all times, has been eager to explain the fundamental philosophy behind probation work, explain the numerous services rendered by the probation and domestic relations departments and its value to the individual and to the community. A number of talks have been given to various organizations on this subject by staff members.

Last year there were 18 juvenile court hearings held involving 29 boys and one girl. Of the boys brought before the court, only six were institutionalized. As of Jan. 1, 1966 there were 23 juvenile boys placed on official probation and during the year 23 more were added. Twenty youths were discharged from official probation leaving a total of 26 as of Jan. 1, 1967.

In juvenile cases in which adjustment was made without a court hearing, there were 11 girls and 87 boys. Three juvenile boys were sent to Warren State Hospital for observation. Total admissions to the detention rooms were 32 boys and seven girls. No admissions remained in detention over 29 days.

Admissions according to the age group included four boys under the age of 12; 17 boys, ages 12 through 15 and four girls; 11 boys, 16 or over and three girls. Five of the girls in detention were runaways from other counties.

There were 34 juvenile boys on unofficial probation as of the first of this year and 41 discharged during 1966.

The youngest juvenile in trouble was a six-year-old involved in malicious mischief with one seven-year-old cited for burglary and three others in this age group and three for larceny. Four were involved in receiving stolen goods; five for setting fires; six for jail break (detention room); a total of 18 for burglary; nine for larceny; 34 for malicious mischief; two disorderly conduct; two, tampering with television line; two, truancy; four, accessory; two, runaways; two, false fire alarm; two, assault and battery; two, indecent assault; one, hit and run accident; one shoplifting; three parole violation and eight auto theft.

With only one girl on official probation, the office reports the following types of violations: shoplifting, four; larceny, two; fire bug, one; malicious mischief, one; bad check, one and illegal use of fire arms, four.

Adult referrals totaled 219. As of the first of this year, four women and 75 men were on probation or parole.

Only six juvenile boys were returned to court for parole violations with one adult female and one male. The office secured work for 18 persons; made 20 adoption investigations and received 3,507 telephone calls.

In the Domestic Relations division there were 253 non-support cases, 66 of them new. Forty-seven were discharged. The total amount of money received and disbursed last year was $156,042.67. It was pointed out that the amount of non-support collections has steadily increased with practically the same case load.

Oil City Man

An area man, T. H. Hold, 7 Fisher ave., Oil City, escaped injury Thursday when a Delta jet airliner being used to train pilots crashed through two houses into a motel killing 19 persons at the edge of the International Airport in New Orleans. Hold, sales manager for the Oil City Works of Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., was a guest at the Hilton Inn. He called his office Thursday to report he was not injured in the accident.

Three Huck Finns

Three would-be Huck Finns, ages 12, 13 and 14, of Dunkirk, N.Y. had to postpone plans for a Lake Erie cruise this week when police halted their efforts to build a raft from "borrowed" materials. Dunkirk patrolman Charles Graves said he found the trio using a hacksaw to remove sections of a dock marina for their craft. The boys were released to the custody of their parents.

Recently Employed

Sally Ann Obinger, daughter of Paul Simonsen, Star Route, Irvine, has recently been employed by the North Central Regional office of State Farm Insurance companies in St. Paul Minn. Sally was employed in the Administrative Services Dept. as a clerk typist. She graduated from Warren High School and International Correspondence School. Sally and her husband, Ben, have two girls, Julie, eight and Sherri, six.

Telephone Device

In order to provide better service to the public, an automatic telephone answering device has been installed in the Erie office of the Wage-Hour and Public Contracts Division of the U.S. Dept. of Labor. This new service will enable employers and employees in the six county area of northeastern Pennsylvania to phone between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Employment Office Moving

Andrew Donick, manager of the Pennsylvania Employment office in Warren, announced the office will move today from its location at 225 Pennsylvania ave. w. to 237 Pennsylvania ave. w. The new facility is located in the building next to the A & P store.

Regional Director

Arthur Miller, General Services Administration regional administrator has announced the appointment of Richard B. Whitaker as regional director of administration, GSA Region 2, New York. Region 2 is comprised of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

ACS Meeting

The April 13 meeting of the Penn-York section of American Chemical Society will feature a talk by Dr. John D. McGervey on "Postiridium Chemistry." He will lecture at 8:15 p.m. at Fredonia State University College in Room 101 of Jewett Hall. An informal dinner at 6:30 p.m. open to society members and guests will precede the lecture and will be held at Cranston Hall.

Federal Grant

Officials at Jamestown Community College have been informed that the New York State Dept. of Higher Education has granted the college $43,500 in federal funds for the purchase of equipment for the machine laboratory at JCC. The funding will permit purchase of a numerical control vertical milling machine and an electrical-controlled spot welder.

Named Guest Speaker

Leslie Flory, chief scientist for the RCA Medical Electronics Division, will be guest speaker at the April 10 dinner meeting of the Emporium-Ridgeway section of Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers. His subject will be "The Expanding Role of Electronics in the Medical Field." The meeting is to be held at Butternut Inn, Emporium, the dinner at 6:30 p.m. Reservations must be in the hands of local representatives no later than April 6.

JUDGE HOWARD WARD

'Number One' Kiwanian To Visit Jamestown, N.Y.

JAMESTOWN — The International President of Kiwanis, Dr. R. Glenn Reed of Marietta, Ga. will be in Jamestown April 12 to attend a dinner-dance at Hotel Jamestown.

The event, expected to attract about 400 members and guests from throughout Western New York and Northwestern Pennsylvania, will mark the 50th anniversary of the founding of Kiwanis in New York State.

Judge Howard Ward of Silver Creek, lieutenant governor of the Southwestern District of Kiwanis, will be host for the event. A social hour at 6:30 p.m. will be followed by dinner and dancing to the music of the Max David Combo.

Dr. Reed's visit to Jamestown is only one of two he is to make in New York State. The other visit will be to the New York City area.

Along with Kiwanis members from all of Western and Central New York State, delegations are expected from Warren, Corry and Erie.

Dr. Reed, a practicing dentist, was elected International President of Kiwanis last July. He holds the distinction of being the youngest president of the service organization.

In 1960, Dr. Reed was named "Young Man Of The Year" in Cobb County, Ga. and later was honored as one of the "Five Young Men of the Year" for Georgia. He is a veteran of Navy service during World War II and the Korean War.

Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

One of the biggest reasons why I like living in Warren has nothing to do with the town itself. It's the knowledge that there is no confinement to office, to the grounds and walls of any building, to the concrete and asphalt that I grew to hate in California.

We have forests, filled with a simpler way of life that can—if we listen—teach us a lesson. The budding of spring, the awakening of squirrels, the flow of creeklets we'll never see in summer—all of these things and many more remind me that most problems connected with urban life are not created by a natural course of events. The social difficulties are created by society; we have problems because we make them and perpetuate them.

By solving one problem, we all too often bring about new ones. When the new ones come, we are perplexed by them because they have no right to be there. Solved once, they should behave themselves and disappear like good little demons and not defy logic by reappearing in a different form.

But they do reappear, and it's frustrating to the mind and damaging to the ego. Many begin to envy those who, while not solving the problem, ignore it until it either goes away or dies its own frustrated death.

A walk in the woods does anyone a lot of good. It reminds us that we're human, if it does nothing else. And that's a very good thing to remember.

Nicodemus Replaces Krapfel On YMCA Board of Directors

William J. Nicodemus, assistant secretary of the Northwest Savings and Loan Association has accepted membership on the board of directors of the Warren Young Men's Christian Association, according to Richard T. Betts, president. He will fill the unexpired term of J. R. Krapfel who resigned because of moving from Warren.

Nicodemus has been associated with Northwest Savings and Loan Association for nearly fifteen years. He moved to Warren from Bradford in September, 1965 where he had been active in varied Y.M.C.A. activities.

In Warren, Nicodemus was an active member of the Adult Program Committee.

He is a member of the First Presbyterian Church, serving as a deacon, an officer in the Mariners, and treasurer of Cub Pack 8. He is a member of the Warren Lions Club and has participated in numerous fund raising projects.

He and Mrs. Nicodemus are members of the Blueberry Hill Country Club. They reside at 100 Orchard st. and their family consists of a son, Stephen, and a daughter, Martha, fifth and third graders at Jefferson School.

The Nicodemus family are participants in many of the Y.M.C.A. program and activities.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I hope you won't think this problem is too goofy to print. I do need your help. Every night before I get into bed I set my alarm clock. After I turn the light out I begin to have doubts—"Did I set the alarm or didn't I?"

Now mind you, Ann Landers, I know very well I set the alarm, but I am not satisfied until I turn on the light and check at least three times.

Can it be that I am cracking up at the age of 17? Please answer soon because I am not getting any better.—FLIPPED OUT

DEAR FLIPPED: Almost everyone has some secret little compulsion. This is yours.

Here is a gimmick that might help you beat it. The next time you set the alarm clock, put a rubber band around your left wrist. When you begin to have doubts, feel for the rubber band. It will serve as evidence that you did indeed set the alarm.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I noticed in Wall Street Warrior Number Two's reply he said, "As far as sex is concerned, forget it. That went dead in a dry martini."

I would like to know, WHOSE martini? His or hers? This has been the basis for quite an argument between me and a friend. He says liquor intensifies the sex drive of a female but it diminishes the sex drive of a male. I say liquor intensifies the sex drive of both male and female. Who is right?—OPEN TO ELUCIDATION

DEAR OPEN: Alcohol does not intensify the sex drive of either male or female; it simply removes the inhibitions. This does not mean booze makes people sexier, it merely means it impairs the judgment and people are inclined to do things they would not do if they were sober. Individuals who have had a great deal to drink may find they are unable to function sexually because the booze has knocked out the mental machinery and no messages are reaching the brain.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your letter to the girl who had epilepsy entitles you to the heartfelt thanks of every person in the world who has the illness. You have done innumerable services for all kinds of people, Ann, but no service can be greater than giving an epileptic the courage to face his illness without shame.

Three years ago I was told I had epilepsy. After I got over feeling sorry for myself I thanked God I didn't have anything worse. But you can't imagine the change in people's voices when they discover you are an epileptic. I was so devastated by the reaction of my close friends that I decided never to tell anyone again.

Please, Ann Landers, mention this subject from time to time. You have a rare opportunity to educate the public in a way that no one else can. God bless you.—One Who Can't Even Sign Her Initials.

DEAR ONE: I have received hundreds of letters from epileptics who expressed gratitude for an understanding of the illness. My thanks to all of you for your generous comments.

If anyone wants educational material, including literature, films and general information, write to The Epilepsy Association of America, 111 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y., 10010.

When necking becomes petting, watch out! To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Zonta Initiates Three Members, Thursday

The regular dinner meeting of the Zonta Club was held in the Warren County Dairy social rooms, Thursday, April 30. Members enjoyed a tureen dinner and were honored to have as a guest at their dinner, Miss Alice Mooradian, governor of District IV of Zonta International.

An impressive initiation ceremony followed the dinner. Governor Mooradian presided at the ceremony and initiated Mrs. Ella May Youngquist, Mrs. Marian Martin and Mrs. Marjorie Donaldson.

Miss Mooradian complimented the Warren Club on its continuous sponsorship of the March of Dimes and stated that this project has brought the club a great deal of recognition in the district.

The program for the evening was provided by Le Van Dung, the Vietnamese foreign exchange student presently living with the Molneys. The Zontians found the program both informative and very interesting.

Other guests at the dinner included Miss Marguerite McCannell, past president of the Warren Club, living in Du Bois at present; and Miss Anne Percy of the Jamestown, N. Y., club.

President Hazel Lewis announced that spring workshops will be held at Toronto, Ontario, April 29, and at Pittsburgh on May 13. Members were urged to attend.

'Friendly Town' Applications Due 10th

The YWCA which is sponsoring 'Friendly Town' in Warren this summer has announced a deadline for applications. Any family wishing to entertain a Cleveland child from June 29 to July 9 is asked to complete a host application card and return it to Mrs. Donald F. Davis, local project chairman, no later than April 10.

Representatives of the YWCA, in making this announcement, commented that the committee was pleased with the enthusiasm shown for this venture in sharing love and understanding. At least sixteen children from the Protestant Inner City Protestant Parish will be visiting homes both in Warren borough and in the county.

They remind prospective hosts that they may specify sex and appropriate age of the child they wish and that no expense be involved other than providing room, board, and normal family entertainment.

Further information and applications are available from Mrs. Davis, 411 Liberty street, phone 723-5899 or the YWCA, phone 723-6350.

Whole-House Air Conditioning

It's cool, it's clean, it keeps fresh air in constant circulation throughout your whole house, top to bottom. What's more, it keeps out airborn dirt, makes cleaning easy, purifies the air you breathe. Best of all, it soaks up summer's sweltering humidity, so you sleep better, eat better, and just plain feel better, all around.

Finding the Total Comfort system that's right for you is easy as a-b-c: a. Some systems include both summer cooling and the carefree comfort of electric heat.

b. If you already have electric heat, you can add the "cool" with ease.

c. Even with forced air heat (and the Other Kind of fuel) you're halfway there, for electric air conditioning can be hooked onto existing ducts! So why delay? Total Comfort costs far less than you may think. ## College Club Plans Meeting With Robert Dilks, The Speaker Members of the Association of College Women, because of various reasons, will meet at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening, April 5, for the regular session. They will hear Robert C. Dilks, manager of the Warren branch of the Bell Telephone Company, who was recently appointed chairman of the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau. His subject will be "Communications of Tomorrow".

Employed with the Bell Telephone Company for seven years, Mr. Dilks worked as service foreman in the Plant Department in Pittsburgh and in the Accounting Department in Greensburg, before his assignment in Warren.

He is a graduate of Villanova University with a Bachelor of Science degree, and is now completing his thesis for a Master's degree in Business Administration at Duquesne University. He is married to the former Sally Dahl of North Warren. They are the parents of an infant son, Robert Charles.

Mr. Dilks is a member of the Warren Kiwanis Club, Warren Players Club and the Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of St. Joseph's Church and a C.C.D. teacher of religion classes for high school students.

College Club members should make reservations with any member of the hostess committee by Monday evening, April 3. Mrs. E. N. Branch is hostess chairman, and her committee includes Mrs. Charles Birmingham, Mrs. S. W. Blackman Jr., and Mrs. Conrad Brunke.

Mozarts Present Music Program

The members of the Mozart Club of Jamestown chose "Russian Music" as the theme of the exchange recital presented for their hostesses, the members of the Philomel Club of Warren, on Wednesday afternoon at the Woman's Club.

Mrs. James Potter, president of the Philomel Club, welcomed the guests, who numbered nearly thirty, and then introduced Mrs. Willard Purlee, president of the Jamestown group, who spoke briefly.

Introduced by Mrs. Herbert W. Lind, first vice president, and chairman of the day's program, Mrs. E. Herbert Boje spoke on "Nationalism in Russian Music". She told of some of the musical qualities of the following great composers: Glinka, Borodin, Moussorgsky, Rimski-Korsakov, Tchaikovsky, Rachmaninoff, Stravinsky, Prokofiev, Shostakovich.

Illustrating the theme, a piano quartet, composed of Mrs. William R. Arnold, Mrs. Russell L. Johnson, Mrs. William P. Osmer, Jr., and Mrs. Clesson E. Peck, presented Moussorgsky's "Valse Brillante" and Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G Minor - Opus 23, No. 5."

Miss Ingrid Zeldin, a student at Fredonia State University College and a recipient of a Mozart scholarship, sang "In the Silence of Night" and "Floods of Spring" by Rachmaninoff and "None But The Lonely Heart" by Tchaikovsky with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Lind.

Mrs. Jeffrey Broadhead concluded the program with "Fugitive Visions, Opus 22" by Prokofiev.

Approximately eighty-five were present for the social hour following the program. Mrs. Glenn Stone was hostess chairman and her committee members included Mrs. Donald Anderson, Mrs. L. J. Borger, Mrs. Rawlston Dinges, Mrs. E. M. Greenwood, Mrs. James Springer, Mrs. Lawrence Stainbrook, Mrs. William Yeager, Sr., and Mrs. Russell Templeton. Mrs. Ann Munro and Miss Kathryn Huber presided at the tea table decorated with an arrangement of multi-colored spring flowers and flanked by yellow candles in glass holders.

Take this quickie Comfort Quotient quiz on winter willies. It may show that you need help from Penelec... for Comfort is our business! If you find your comfort isn't all it could be, help is as close as your mail box. Just mail coupon below. Now for the quiz:

Is your present heat for the birds?
1 ☐ Our birds go south
2 ☐ I don't know what happens to my heat once it goes up the chimney
3 ☐ Yes

What does this look like to you?
1 ☐ A butterfly
2 ☐ An inkblot
3 ☐ The grimy spots above our registers—caused by our dirty old combustion furnace that scatters soot all over, and keeps my wife in a flap

What do you say when that dirty old combustion furnace goes on the blink in a blizzard?
1 ☐ Aw, shucks
2 ☐ CENSORED
3 ☐ Next year, by gad, we'll have electric heat!

If you scored more than zero, you're overdue for Total Comfort with

Flameless Electric Heat

It's the happy heat for happy endings! Because electric heat ends fuel loss (no more up-the-chimney waste).

Ends furnace soot and grime (cuts cleaning to a next-to-nothing chore).

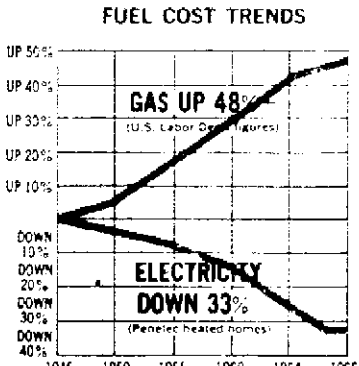

Ends chilly floors, uneven heat (you may fancy 69 degrees, or 96, but your anatomy will never have to suffer both at once).

Ends drafts, unsettling furnace noises, and ends sneezes, too (the kind that come from dryness caused by open flame).

Another thing, with a thermostat in every room, you can dial a temperature to suit yourself. In short, electric heat lets you begin a life of Total Comfort, for your insulation will serve for electric whole-house air conditioning, too. Sooner or later you'll be wanting both, so why not have them installed together?

Total Comfort costs much less than you may think! The "magic" cent per kilowatt hour is already here for preferred users, and rates keep falling, as other fuel costs climb. Mail the coupon—and get the facts. No obligation whatsoever.

Act now! Get up to $250 trade-in on your old equipment from Penelec.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR SATURDAY, APRIL 1, 1967
ARIES (March 21 to April 20) —You can demonstrate your ability to be original and imaginative now but, at the same time, concentrate on practicality. In certain circumstances even good ideas may not be feasible.
TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) —Mixed influences—but accomplish as much as you can. You will be glad later. Don't mind obstacles; they are normal tests and improve ability, sharpen wits.
GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) —Mercury pleasingly propitious. Get into the spirit of things and do your utmost, which can be substantial. Results also depend upon approach. Be your usually tactful self.
CANCER (July 22 to July 23) —Individualism will not be as important as teamwork now. You who sincerely wish to achieve and try, will gain many credits.
LEO (July 24 to August 23) —A bright outlook for those of you who feel and think in line with the top-grade, the strong-principled. Children's affairs, culture, institutional work especially favored.
VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) —A fine outlook! Steady progress indicated through properly distributed effort. Take advantage of all good opportunities.
LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) —Your incentive and vigor should be at a peak now. Your creative urges will also be strong, and may impel you to do something unusual and outstanding.
SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22) —You may have to stand alone on occasion to defend your principles. This the native of Scorpio can do well. But note: That's different from merely being stubborn.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21) —Good Jupiter influences now stimulate business and financial affairs. In dealing with others, use quiet persuasion rather than force.
CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) —Don't hide from facts. What you find will not be all pleasant, nor all unpleasant. But you can handle all in the Capricornian's ingenious way.
AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) —A difficult situation to face? Think it over, talk it out, get all the points straightened out satisfactorily. You can enjoy distinction in several areas.
PISCES (February 20 to March 20) —Better-than-average influences. If big things await you, be prompt, move forward with confidence. Don't hesitate to make the most of even small opportunities, however.
YOU BORN TODAY sometimes begin a project with great enthusiasm, yet do not "feel much like finishing it." You lose interest, not so much through fickleness but because you give it tremendous drive in the beginning and exhaust yourself early. Teach yourself to complete what you start. You are quick-seeing, equally quick to act. You take a liking to people and places FAST; must slow down to get the proper perspective. Aries produces many doctors, speakers, statesmen, military geniuses, and musicians. Birthdate of: William Harvey, physician, discoverer of blood circulation; Debbie Reynolds, actress.

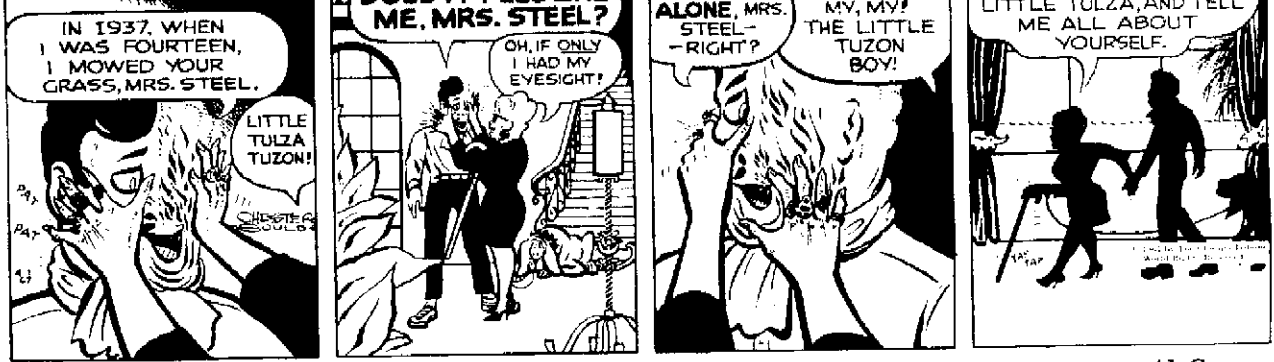

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

(c) 1967 By The Chicago Tribune
OBESITY is one of our major health problems. It aggravates existing disorders, especially those of the heart, blood vessels, and kidneys. Diabetes is frequently preceded by a gain in weight and some authorities believe it might be possible to forestall the onset of the disease by maintaining normal weight.
High blood pressure is more common in the portly, and the same can be said of gallbladder disease, hernia, and arthritis of the weight bearing joints. The remedy is simple: 95 per cent will lose weight by eating less. There are no short cuts, and all the fancy plans eventually come down to dieting. Intelligent people no longer believe that vitamins and minerals help to shed pounds and that certain pills allow the fatter to eat all he wants.
Dieting is not easy. It means fewer "goodies" and cocktails. Weight reduction requires motivation and will power. Some of our obese friends should consult a psychiatrist so that the mind can be probed to determine why eating is all important. Not every individual should reduce because some become too unhappy.
For some a slimming diet that spells out the exact type and amount of food to be consumed is needed. On the other hand most would-be reducers could do just as well if they cut their intake in half or were content with small portions and no seconds. The girth watcher must learn proper dietary habits, and stop nibbling and teabox raiding.
The real problem begins after the desired amount is lost. Maintaining normal weight is a lifelong project. Those inclined to chunkiness ought to make a real effort to return to normal weight every spring and fall. For many this means losing from 5 to 10 pounds biannually.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

THEY REALLY DO
H. M. writes: Do people really send in some of those foolish questions or do you include them to add a little humor to your column?
REPLY
When you receive as much mail as we do, there are bound to be a number of amusing letters. Most of these are intelligent, to the point, and from persons who really need help. A certain proportion are sad and occasionally we get a real tearjerker.
+ + +
DIZZINESS ON ARISING
R. R. writes: I'm so dizzy when I get up in the morning, I must sit on the edge of the bed to prevent myself from toppling over. I'm 68 years old. Is this to be expected at my age?
REPLY
Older persons are prone to dizziness on changing posture. If you sit still for a moment or two before standing, as you are doing, the sensation is likely to disappear.

F.G.Y. writes: Does everyone develop cancer if he lives long enough?
REPLY
This statement has been made after studies on oldsters who died from other causes. I presume this could be said about a variety of disorders. According to the law of averages, the longer a person lives the greater the chance of his being bumped off by an auto or of having a heart attack.

TE LA DI O

By Lenore McIntyre-TV Editor WEEK'S PREVIEW

Recommended viewing during the coming week includes NBC Experiment in Television's "Theatre of the Deaf" Sunday afternoon and "Meet the Press International" at 6:30 p.m. Disney has a "Salute to Alaska" at 7:30 Sunday night that also deserves a look-see. If you didn't see "Death of a Salesman" in its first television presentation, don't miss it Sunday night on CBS. It's a powerful drama and the acting is superb.

CBS repeats "Frank Sinatra: A Man and His Music" Monday night and if you like Sinatra you'll like this. CBS will quiz its viewing audience Tuesday night with another of its popular test programs, this one being the "National Science Test."

If you are partial to comedy, satire and variety, hang on to your seat Wednesday night as you view the Sid Caesar Special that also has in its cast Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner and Howard Morris. NBC News Inquiry comes up with a notable attempt to probe the NASA Wednesday night at 10 o'clock as it examines the origin, development and present condition of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

ABC has one for sports fans Friday night when it presents "Portrait of Willie Mays," with the San Francisco Giants centerfielder reminiscing, analyzing and predicting.

Ch. 3, WPSX-TV, our educational channel, will explore "School Prayers" on Regional Report Wednesday night. This is followed by a drama based on Japanese fables written 1,000 years ago, "Rashoman," which seeks the answer to What Is Truth? The cast includes Ricardo Montalban, James Mitchell, Carol Lawrence and Oscar Homolka.

Retired Episcopal Bishop James Pike, called the "storm center of American protestantism," airs his controversial beliefs on man and his religion in the first of a four-part series titled "The Crisis of Belief" at 9:30 p.m. Thursday. Friday night the play, "Knife in the Water," will be presented, an essay on tension concerning a trio of attractive people, their chance encounter, and a yacht-club cruise that turns into a psychological crisis.

REPEATS AGAIN

The run of first-time showings for most regular TV programs has about reached the end of the string and already repeats are creeping in. Thus begins the season of dial switching to find a show you haven't seen before.

This has its advantages, though. You can pick up programs that are new to you because you were watching another on the first go-round and programs you wanted to see but missed for one reason or another may be shown again.

MORE BIRDS

I don't know what influence LBJ may have exerted on the naming of the new Atlantic communications satellite launched about ten days ago but it is familiarly known as Canary Bird. (Can Bird serves the Pacific and Lady Bird... Just that's another story.)

Canary Bird soars in stationary orbit 22,300 miles above the equator near Grand Canary Island, another communications link between U.S. and Europe, but also capable of reaching the west coast of Africa and South America. It is capable of carrying two TV channels or one two-way TV channel or 240 voice circuits.

UPWARD HO!

The educated prediction is that television advertising will climb to more than $5 billion in 1972 (it was nearly $3 billion in 1966) and that the average cost of a network minute in prime time will rise from last year's $37,000 to $55,000 in 1972. So you see the commercial for which you choose to leave the room is a costly 60 seconds.

It also is foreseen that the 30-second commercial will become the basic unit and that commercials will be grouped into islands rather than spaced throughout programs as now is the case. Personally, I favor a "commercial hour" when all the animated ads would be shown for the evening, followed by three hours of uninterrupted programming, or better yet, show the commercials after the late night movie is over and I have gone to bed.

PEOPLE & PROGRAMS

A FUMBLE OF DAYTIME program chair, will be noted, starting Monday, April 3. These occur on NBC and ABC networks.

THE BEST ON RECORD, a one-hour special featuring performances by several of this year's winners of the recording industry's Grammy Awards, will be on NBC-TV, Wednesday, May 3 at 9-10 p.m.

BELL TELEPHONE's final hour of the season will come on NBC-TV Sunday, April 23, with a program titled "El Prado: Masterpieces and Music," featuring noted Spanish musicians performing in a setting of world-renowned masterpieces of painting. Andres Segovia will be program host.

DICK VAN DYKE stars in his first one-hour comedy-variety special Tuesday, April 11, at 8:30 p.m., a program titled simply "Dick Van Dyke," in which the star will sing, dance, appear in pantomime and monologue, offer comedy sketches and play host.

RED SKELTON will present "Laughter: The Universal Language," an all-request, one-man concert in pantomime, on his regular hour Tuesday, April 18, CBS-TV.

THE SMITHSONIAN and Animal Secrets, the two-prize-winning NBC series seen this season on Saturdays, will be encored this summer, back-to-back on Sunday evenings for 12 weeks at 6:30-7 p.m. and 7-7:30 p.m.

By Harold Knappenberger Sr. Minister of Visitation Grace Methodist Church

"Jesus went again beyond Jordan unto the place where John baptized." The Gospel according to St. John chapter 10 verse 40. When one lets his imagination loose on these words, they are transformed from a commonplace connecting sentence linking events in the life of Jesus, into the key to the renewal of inspiration. Jesus had just passed the peak of his popularity with the people. Many who had followed him now turned away. It was only natural that questions should arise in His mind concerning His message and His method. The deep heart searchings of the temptation experience were upon Him again. Then it was, that Jesus went again beyond Jordan unto the place where John baptized—the place where He had heard God's voice speaking to Him. He went there in order that He might renew His inspiration. There beyond the Jordan He was reassured. There He was made able to face life as it was, not as He wished it might be.

We need renewal of inspiration again and again. Hope and expectation flee and unless inspiration is renewed we become apathetic, cynical, insecure, and anemic Christians. We have just now come through the annual observance of Easter. We have seen the Church "with her banners flying." The reaction has or will soon set in. We shall need renewed inspiration. Confronted with a like circumstance our Lord sought and found.

"Jesus went again beyond Jordan unto the place where John baptized." Our Master went to the place where He knew God had spoken to Him. He went to the physical place. We, too, need to go again and again to the place where we are sure God spoke to us—some beauty spot in nature, a quiet home, a crowded altar, a familiar pew—wherever we heard God's voice. Waiting in such a place our inspiration will be renewed. If we cannot go to the actual place, we can go in memory and imagination. Reliving a high hour with God renews our inspiration and the power and strength His presence gives.

To renew inspiration one needs to go over in his mind and heart the great fundamentals of his faith. That is what Jesus did beyond Jordan. This is what we must do. For me it would go like this. My God is the God revealed in Christ. What Jesus says, God says. What Jesus does, God does. What Jesus is, God is. God's word to you and me is never a matter of everlasting demands but of everlasting arms. In the words of Paul Scherer "Love is a spendthrift, leaves its arithmetic at home, is always "in the red." And God is love." The ground of my redemption is in the cross of Christ. My eternal salvation rests not on my endeavor but on his act of self-giving. He loves me and gives Himself for me. The basis of my eternal hope is in Christ's resurrection. Because He lives I too shall live. As I meditate on these great truths my inspiration is renewed.

To renew inspiration one must remember again and again his present blessings and God's promises. This is what Jesus did beyond Jordan. Counting one's blessings always strengthens faith. God promises to be with us. "Lo, I am with you always even to the end of the age." God promises to receive us. "Him who comes to me I will in no wise cast out." God promises to empower us. "You shall receive power when the Holy Spirit is come upon you." Counting one's present blessings and remembering God's promises renews inspiration.

When Christ's inspiration flagged, He went to the place where He was sure God had spoken to Him. He thought through again and great fundamental teachings of His faith. He recounted His present blessings and God's promises. So may we.

In a ministry of more than forty years my inspiration has needed to be renewed many times. Two experiences of my past have always been a source of strength. That hour in an upper room in an unpretentious house during my freshman year in college when God made clear his call to the ministry and I responded to it. That later hour in Trinity Methodist Church in Oil City, Pennsylvania when I was made a full-fledged Methodist minister and the men of the conference led by Bishop Luther B. Wilson filed by one by one and offered me the hand of fellowship and welcome together with the blessing of God. There have been times when the vision dimmed but always by going back in memory and imagination to that fine hour my inspiration has been renewed, and I have been newly aware of God's call to me.

"Jesus went again beyond Jordan unto the place where John baptized." So may we. So must we, if we are to be true to Him who loved us and gave Himself for us.

Camping Can Be Economical For Family, Tent Big Item

All your family needs to become a camping family is the urge and about $25—or $250 if you want to go first class.

But you'll save the much in hotel and motel bills in less than two weeks on the road.

We're talking now about tent camping. Camping trailers cost much more—from $500 for a tent trailer to $1,500 or more for a good travel trailer or truck-bed camper.

The tent is the basic piece of equipment. Get a good one with a sewn-in floor and nylon mesh screens. Those with exterior aluminum frames are generally easier to erect and the additional cost is small.

A good one nine feet square costs about $50. It's large enough for a family of four—or five, if you really go for togetherness. A tent large enough for six or seven persons can be had for about $100.

The smaller tent is adequate if you want to stay mobile and just use it for a bedroom. If you plan to spend your whole vacation in one place, the larger one would be more convenient. It's harder to erect, but you'll be doing it only once.

Besides the tent, the basic camping kit includes one cot for each person (with air mattresses if you insist on genuine comfort), a camp stove, a lantern, cooking utensils, an ice chest and an ax.

As a general rule, you should lay in supplies before you reach your campsite. The nearest store may be miles away.

You can carry fresh meat, if you remember to buy ice, but canned meats are more convenient. Packers are canning just about everything; you can buy at the butcher's.

Canned vegetables are easy to prepare at the campsite as in the kitchen. So are instant potatoes.

Beverages come in bottles and cans, easily transportable, but the mix-and-serve variety take up less space and are just as thirstquenching.

You can get powdered milk, orange juice, grape juice, punch, lemonade. Whatever it takes to suit your taste.

The choice of a campsite depends on what you plan to do with it.

If you're just spending the night, facilities are of small importance. If you're going to be there a week or two, you want to be more selective.

Most likely you'll be pitching your tent in a federal or state recreational area where the sites are designated, each with a table, some with fireplaces.

No two campsites are alike. They vary from the deluxe sites with private drives at the Grand Canyon to the primitive ones in some of the more isolated national forest areas.

But in most any of them, all you have to do is pitch your tent and start looking for fun.

If the site isn't prepared, pick a level spot that's high enough to drain well. If you're staying any length of time dig a trench around the tent so water won't get under it.

Try to get near the restrooms and the water supply. Some campgrounds have water at every site. Most don't. Make sure, if possible, that everyone knows the path to the restroom and the water outlet before dark.

Hang your lantern high. It doesn't give much light sitting on the table. Unpack your cooking supplies. It's usually safe to leave them on the table, covered with a tarpaulin, when you leave the campsite for short periods. Stow them in the tent if you're going to be gone any length of time.

Finding a campsite is easy if you start early. Several companies publish campgrounds guides, listing the number of sites, facilities and cost, if any, at the various recreational areas.

But most of the national parks, national forest and state park campgrounds fill up quickly during the tourist season. Noon is about latest you can plan to arrive, especially in the more popular parks. Mid-morning, when the campers who are moving on are moving out, is even better.

LIGHT CONTROL

A car dome light doesn't burn continuously when you wish to leave the doors open. Just locate the plastic plungers of the control switches near the door hinges, and file a slight flat on the side, near the end of each. Two passes of a fingernail file should do it. Push in the plunger and slide the wide end of a flat toothpick into the filed area so that when you release the plunger it will be wedged fast. —Ken Murray, Colon, Mich.

Campgrounds Springing Up All Over County

By DON NEAL
OUTDOORS EDITOR

Warren County campers will find an ever-widening choice of places to park their trailer or pitch their tent this year as newly developed and soon-to-be-developed campgrounds spring up in all parts of our outdoor wonderland.

For those most interested in spectacular views from high mountain tops, tramping the woodland trails that lead to secluded forest rendezvous, or being within reasonable distance of the water-oriented sports of the Kinzua Dam there are the camping grounds of the Scandia Hills. Here, at the very tippy of Warren County, a camper can enjoy a real "wild west" environment as saddle horses are available and real Indians live in the not too distant countryside.

Along the river between the Kinzua Dam and the county line are several existing and developing campgrounds. In this area the camper will find a wealth of recreational opportunities available to him. Swimming in the river, boating, some of the nation's finest fishing, shooting a rapid in a canoe, or just enjoying the pleasure that comes from meandering the banks of a fast-flowing stream. In the adjacent hills the hiker, climber, photographer and outdoorsist will find the solitude he seeks. Trout streams are close by, and the wildlife of the area provides some of the best hunting in the state.

For the real lover of the aesthetic, it could be the beautiful valley of the Tionesta. No high-speed roads, no honky-tonk tourist traps. Just Mother Nature at her very best, seasoned with just a sprinkling of friendly rural folk that makes a stay in this area really worthwhile. Sheffield is the gateway to this section of the county where fishing, hunting, and forest-based outdoor sports are tops, and "roaming room" is plentiful because of the surrounding lands of the Allegheny National Forest.

There are those among the campers, however, who prefer the more developed rural areas to those of the "wild" forest expanses. These campers will find their Shangri-la in the valley of the Brokenstraw. And even though the country is more open and settled, there is no scarcity of wildlife, the streams are highly fishable, and general outdoor possibilities are abundant. Children will be most impressed with their experiences while visiting the farms of the area, especially if they can participate in driving the cows to the milking shed or ride the hay wagon in from the fields.

Camping in the county is in its infancy. As more and more camping areas are developed, providing easy access to the wealth of recreational opportunities that exist within our borders, more and more county families will be attracted to the activity that provides the ultimate in family togetherness. That we have so many good campgrounds so near at hand is fortunate, indeed.

Winch Worth Having

A winch is an extra that might be kept in mind for the man who is in the market for a camper or utility vehicle.

Whether you are rambling through rugged country or using the vehicle as a general work horse, you'll find that a winch adds considerably to the capability of your car or light truck.

Engineers say that winches can also provide an additional measure of safety in rugged terrain. If you get stuck in a stream bed, in fender-deep mud or can't get the vehicle up a steep or icy incline, that's when a winch is worth its weight in gold. By playing out the cable and hooking it around a tree or to a dead-man, you can winch your vehicle out of these tough situations.

And for campers or those working in isolated wilderness, it can mean the difference between a rugged day and an ordeal.

Engineers suggest that as a minimum, the winch you select should have a pulling power 2 to 3 times the weight of your vehicle.

In Pennsylvania, automobiles must be inspected twice a year. There is no law governing inspection of bicycles. However, the Pennsylvania Bureau of Traffic Safety urges bike riders and their parents to check steering, handle bars, brakes and all safety equipment on bicycles at least once every month. This inspection could prevent a serious accident.

Number of Factors Make Cycles 'In' Thing

By The Associated Press

Motorcycling has become an "in" thing in America.

Today, some 5 million Americans ride motorcycles or scooters. An estimated 750,000 such machines were sold in 1966 according to the Motorcycle and Scooter Information Bureau.

Demand mushroomed so fast, particularly in 1965, that at one point in Ohio the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles ran out of license plates.

There are a number of factors behind the trend: easier parking (often, at no cost), inexpensive maintenance, low insurance, no need for a garage.

But there is a mystique about cycling that goes beyond what men have felt about their four-wheeled machines.

A New York physician in his 60's says:

"I get a deep sense of excitement on a motorcycle. You can compare it with bob-sledding or skiing because on a bike you get the impression that you create your own road. There's elation, too, from the fresh air and from the power of acceleration, rather than the speed, when I leave a pack of cars behind. Yet, I'm excited even at 50 mph."

A Chattanooga, Tenn., doctor puts it this way: "Riding a motorcycle is one way to be absolutely alone. You're closer to nature, get the full view of sunsets, the wonderful smells of wooded areas. You don't get that when you're hemmed in a car."

One psychologist maintains that motorcyclists are extroverts.

"If this were the day of the horse and buggy," he says, "motorcyclists would be the people who went everywhere on the back of the horse, not behind it."

Evidence that a new breed of motorcyclists is extant upon the land is seen in the clothes worn today; in many areas, cyclists look like the typical middle class family headed for a picnic. A cycle dealer in Flint, Mich., now features suede rather than leather jackets.

Symbolic of the new "image" is a 35-year-old pastor in Sisters Bay, Wis., who travels on his motorcycle with small black crosses imprinted on the front and back of his white helmet. "It brings me closer to the young people of my congregation," he says.

Motorcycles today also have a utilitarian side. At the Da Nang Air Base in South Viet Nam, U.S. Marine pilots on motorcycles zoom toward their aircraft to speed up flight operations when they answer alerts from the ready room. At training bases, motorcycles were common as crewman found a zip-pier way to cover the distances to flight lines.

Madison Avenue in Manhattan has been the scene of young men pouring from the towering offices and hopping aboard their bikes to travel to out-of-the-way places for lunch. New York City police patrol streets on scooters. In Texas, cowboys chase steers from the maneuverable bikes.

There's also the sport of racing. More than 4,000 events are staged each year under sanction of the American Motorcycle Assn., which has almost 80,000 members. Events are held on state fair grounds, raceways, speedways, in stadiums and on trails.

Outlaw clubs, such as Hells Angels, have always been condemned by the A.M.A. These were the types long associated with the "roughneck" image of motorcycling.

Outdoor Life Serves As Form of Psychiatry

By DON NEAL
Outdoors Editor

Out rate psychiatry.

Perhaps that is the best way to describe the benefit the outdoorist derives from his recreational activities. For it is a certain fact there is no better way to "get away from it all," work up an appetite, or prepare for a restful night's sleep than to spend a day in the wide open spaces.

President Herbert Hoover put his finger on the "get away" part of it very handily when a radio interviewer asked him, "Mr. Hoover, why is it so many American Presidents are fishermen, or why do so many fishermen become Presidents?"

"That is a complex question. In the first place there have been Presidents like Grover Cleveland and myself who have been fishermen from boyhood. We have got to have it. But there are other reasons. One of them is that there are 35 million Americans who buy a fishing license each year and they are a great potential for any candidate.

"The most important reason, though, is that the public has little respect for the privacy of the President, not even when he's asleep. But they do respect prayer and fishing. A President can't pray all of the time, so he goes fishing."

But Mr. Hoover like millions of other outdoorists, was really seeking relaxation and relief from the strains, stresses, restraints and complexities of our demanding society when he went fishing. Others found their escape from the grinding pressures of everyday life along the course of a woodland trail, in searching the grouse cover of a mountain ridge, in shooting the rapids of a wild river, or resting undisturbed at some hastily established backcountry camp. Each in his own way was soaking up the therapeutic values of outdoor recreation.

Perhaps the most beneficial aspect of all outdoor recreation is the lack of man to man competitiveness. We have more than enough competition in our daily lives, so in order to completely relax there should come a time when we don't have to top the other fellow's score.

And topping the other fellow's score is the last worry in the world to the outdoorist who has learned to appreciate and enjoy the abundance of recreational opportunities that exist in Warren County. On every hand there is the invitation to rub elbows with Nature and, in so doing, soothe our jagged nerves with the balm of complete contentment.

Our roads may be less adequate, our political strength may be questionable, our social progress may be lackadaisical—but our position as a community wherein all of the healthful aspects of outdoor recreation are abundant is outstanding. And as someone once said: "Health is the greatest of wealth."

Two-wheelers, known today as bicycles, came into being about 1816 with the "Hobby Horse." One of a kind in its day, this year there are more than 30 million bikes in America. Pennsylvania has its share. April has been proclaimed Bicycle Safety Month in the Commonwealth. Will you, when driving, be alert for the possible mistakes of the young riders? To drive defensively may mean the difference between taking or saving a life.

A List of Safety Tips for the Motorcyclists

Always keep your eyes on the road. Alertness is the most important single factor in avoiding accidents.

Ride in the wheel track of the car ahead of you. Being on the outer edge will enable you to turn in time when an emergency occurs.

Never take it for granted that a car driver sees you and will give you the right of way. Remember the car driver is looking for another car or a truck and often misses a small vehicle like a motorcycle. Always be on the defensive.

When riding in groups, go two-by-two, never three abreast.

Watch for pedestrians.

Never follow too closely behind vehicles.

Observe speed limits and traffic laws.

Slow down for all curves.

Pass only when the road ahead and to the left is clear; after passing, don't cut off the passed vehicle.

On wet pavements and roads covered with snow, ice or mud, refrain from sudden accelerations or braking to avoid skids.

Let the engine act as a brake

Trouble With Mums

If greenhouse-grown chrysanthemums do not show good growth, the trouble is more apt to be lack of moisture reaching the roots than lack of air in the soil.

Another cause of poor growth may be diseases that attack plant roots. This often is blamed on too much water or too little aeration.

The amount of water to be used depends on the kind of soil and the ability to conduct water from the soil to the roots of the plant, whenever possible. When brakes must be applied, use rear brake first and then, if required, apply front brake gently.

U-turns lead to a large percentage of motorcycle accidents so avoid them as a general rule. If you must reverse direction, pull off the road to the right, come to a complete stop, look around, look again, then make your re-entry in the desired direction.

When making left-hand turns, enter the left traffic lane well in advance of your turn after checking rear traffic carefully. Then signal your turn and steer

Intersection Safety

On long trips take frequent rest breaks — at least once each two hours.

so that you are visible in the rear-view mirror of the car in front of you. Be alert for unmarked turns.

Check List Made for Those Pulling Trailers

A trailer is a handy item. There are hundreds of different breeds for every purpose. But a trailer is a responsibility and a liability as well as an asset.

One of the most important features concerning the responsibilities of trailers is the insurance. Is your car covered while pulling a trailer, is your trailer covered while attached, or unhooked? What about the contents of the trailer?

Having pulled a trailer many thousands of miles I have fallen into a regular routine each time a trip is in the offing.

First I check the hitch on the car. Is it stable, is it heavy enough for the load it is pulling, is the safety chain adequate, is it firmly attached? Hooking up the lights is next; are all the

New Garden Books

"Herb Gardening in Five Seasons," by Adelma Grenier Simmons (Van Nostrand, Princeton, N. J.) provides lore, culture, delectable recipes and identifications of many herbs. The book has many line drawings and photographs. Mrs. Simmons manages Caprilands Herb Farm in North Coventry, Conn., and lectures extensively.

For indoor gardeners there is "Flowering Bulbs for Winter Windows," by Marian C. Walker (Van Nostrand), who suggests ways to provide four months of color. She will tell you how to keep spring on your windowsill. Learn how to force tulips, narcissi and hyacinths.

Lighted Shoes

A patent has been granted for electrically lighted shoes — men's and women's. There's a battery in the heel and a bulb in the toe!

bulbs working, the turn signals, the stop lights, are the lens and the reflectors clean? It is a good idea to carry spare bulbs, a bit of tape, a pair of pliers, a screwdriver in the trailer, as well as a safety kit consisting of flares, flags, lug wrench, jack and spare tire in your trailer.

Are the tires safe? A blowout at any speed with a loaded trailer can flip a car as easily as cracking the tip of a bull whip—the action is much the same. Next check the brakes; if you do not have brakes on the trailer be sure to check the states you are going to travel through; in some it is illegal to pull a trailer without brakes. Never drive your car pulling a trailer any faster than you normally drive; in fact the safe thing to do is to reduce your speed because it's going to take you twice as long to stop.

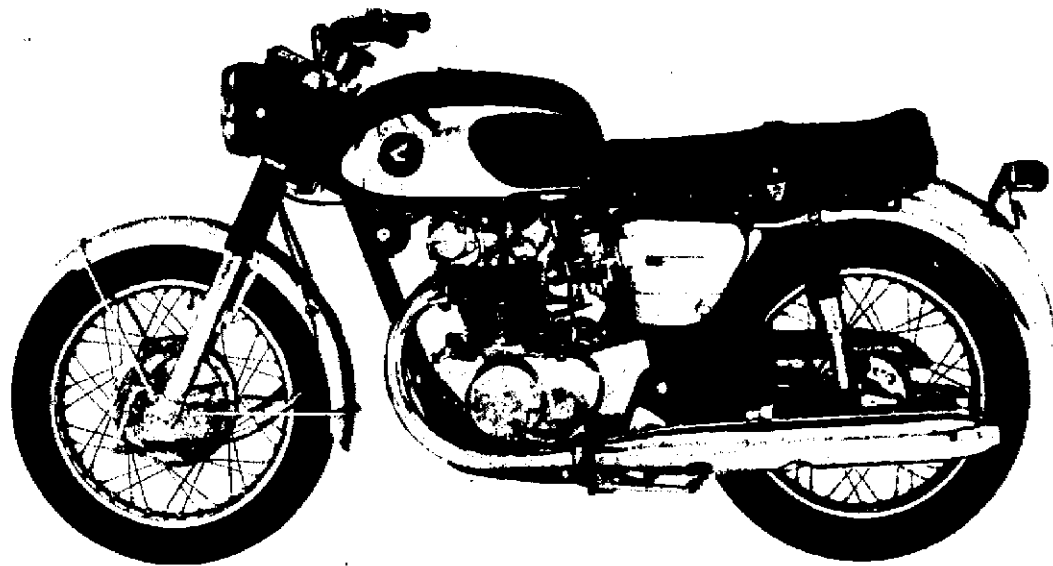

If the trailer has brakes, check the connections, both electric or hydraulic. Always, when making a stop, especially a quick or panic stop, apply the brakes on the trailer just a bit ahead of the car brakes using the trailer as a drag or slowing agent. This way you don't wind up with your trailer for a necktie.

After a complete safety check, including well packed wheel bearings, practice a bit with your trailer. Find an isolated parking lot or large area, practice backing the trailer into a tight spot, see how sharp a turn you can negotiate, try applying the brakes, get the feel of the whole rig. If you pull a trailer regularly these things have become second nature to you; if not, the practice is needed and it might save your life in an emergency.

Outdoor Recreation: Enjoy It in County

By DON NEAL

What is your pleasure in outdoor recreation?

Drifting a canoe down a fast-flowing scenic river? Climbing to a high overlook on the mountainside? Photographing the beauties of nature and the wonders of wildlife? Fishing for trout in the crystal waters of a mountain brook? To saunter along a forest trail? Picnic in a pine-shaded grove? Or hunt deer, bear, turkey, grouse, squirrel and other game in season? Or follow the hound packs as they track down the wily fox or the elusive raccoon?

Whatever your outdoor pleasure, there is ample opportunity for you to enjoy it in Warren County.

No other section of the Allegheny River is more inviting to canoeists than the riffle-laden portion of this beautiful river that courses through the center of the county. Hundreds of individuals and organized groups travel great distances each year just to enjoy the thrill of maneuvering their frail crafts down its tumbling course.

On its larger eddies there is room for the pleasure powerboat of limited horsepower, and the fishermen's cartop outboards. The eddies of the lower Allegheny are best suited to the fisherman's interests, though, and the powerboat enthusiast will undoubtedly find his greatest pleasures on the newly impounded waters of the Kinzua Dam. The 12,000 acres of navigable water of this huge lake provide ideal conditions for speed-boating or water skiing.

It is in the area of the Kinzua Dam, too, that several developed overlooks offer tremendous scenic views that can be enjoyed without leaving the car, or by walking a short distance from the parking areas. Yet almost every mountainous point, either around the perimeter of the Kinzua Dam or jutting from the high hills along its downstream course, offers the adventurous climber a variety of views far more impressive and exciting.

It is as he climbs to one of the high-in-the-sky rendezvous or saunters along a forest trail on the mountaintop that the photographer will encounter a wealth of subjects. Wildlife will flush from their usual pursuits to scurry to their dens or flee to safety, almost always hesitating just a moment to determine the cause of their alarm and provide the camera with the shot of a lifetime. His eyes will gather in scenes of great beauty, both near and far, and perhaps occasionally register a symbol of drama—a twisted tree trunk that depicts the viscidness of Nature or an aged rock formation that denotes the agelessness of Time—that should be preserved on film.

The more ardent outdoorsman may find his pleasures at some point on the hundreds of miles of trout streams that course the county where he can cast a dry fly for brooks, browns and rainbows, or on the riffles and eddies of the river where he can cast for bass, walleyes, muskies, and northerns. Which ever his choice, he will find action awaiting him on our heavily populated waters.

Regardless of his interests, the outdoorist will find Warren County abundant with opportunities to enjoy himself in many ways. And when he has spent a carefree day in our forests or along our streams, his pleasures are not ended, but only begun. For it is in the twilight hours and early evening that he can enjoy the pleasures of one of the most popular of outdoor sports, camping.

Returning to cabin, tent or trailer at the end of a day's outing is an unforgettable experience for the dedicated outdoorist. With his family and friends gathered around, there will be picnic-like dinner cooked to perfection over an open fire, and talk of the day's activities will highlight the conversation. Later there will be those drowsy hours around the campfire when friends from neighboring camps will drop in for a visit. A form of friendly "togetherness" that can only exist where the air is heavy with the smell of pine smoke and the aroma of boiled coffee.

It is little wonder that Americans in general are turning to outdoor activities by the thousands each year. Psychiatrists claim that it is only in the quietness of the forests that we find relief from our urbanized way of life. That it is essential to man's welfare to have time to retreat, reflect, and recreate.

So how lucky can we be here in Warren County? At our doorstep is almost every possible opportunity to enjoy the bounties of an outdoor wonderland. Opportunities for everyone—the camper, hiker, fisherman, hunter, boater, canoeist, photographer, and the pleasure driver and family picnicker.

The displays of this sports show are designed to acquaint the outdoorist with the various equipment and accessories that will add to his pleasures in the wide open spaces.

Cordless Power Affects Life

Probably no aspect of modern life has been affected more deeply by the introduction of cordless power than that of entertainment.

Battery-operated transistor radios generally are credited with giving the sweepstakes its initial impetus. Their sales soon soared into the millions and are continuing to rise.

The idea spread quickly until today there are cordless television sets, phonographs, tape recorders, walkie-talkie sets for sportsmen, symphonic tuners for orchestras and many other devices.

The battery-operated phonograph, for instance, permits users to play their favorite skating waltzes on a pond far from any conventional outlet.
